Introduction

Irecent news, it is impossible to pull it up without seeing references to what the media describes as a “strange fringe conspiracy theory” all across the internet. It has been pointed at as a bizarre theory just trying to paint the “good guys” in a bad light, referring to the Democrats and the Left as the heroes in the world’s story. After all, they are fighting for freedom, right?

They are fighting for freedom, but the truth is that freedom is not your own. They are fighting for their own freedom—something they value far more. They do not value you. They see you as a vote, and if you are not a vote for them, then you are nothing more than a drain. Though the media is painting those exploring the QAnon theories as terrorists or people attempting to destroy the Democrats, the truth is far deeper. QAnon is there—but it is not as far-fetched as the media is attempting to portray it to be. It is not as crazy as you may think when you actually start to look at the various hints left.

We have all seen conspiracy theories that get circulated around the internet. They are fringe theories meant to send chills down one’s spine or scare people into compliance. Sometimes, they are even made just to see how dumb the users on the internet are, trying to manipulate them into doing something that is not to their benefit at all. However, some theories may seem so far-fetched that they must be impossible, yet they are true. Sometimes, the truth is hard to believe—sometimes, the truth seems entirely impossible, yet we live it.

It is time to wake up.

It is time to see the truth that is right before your very eyes and time to acknowledge that ultimately, the world is not what it seems. The sources that you thought that you could trust? They are full of lies. The very enemy rules them—your enemy wants you to be blind. They want you to believe what they have to say. You may be wondering, “who is your enemy”? You will have to keep reading to find out. The truth may be hard to believe, but it must be accepted if you want to be enlightened. As posted by Q himself, quoting the Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy:

“The enlightenment is often associated with its political revolutions and ideals, especially the French Revolution of 1789. The energy created and expressed by the intellectual foment of Enlightenment thinkers contributes to the growing wave of social unrest in France in the eighteenth century. The social unrest comes to a head in the violent political upheaval, which sweeps away the traditionally and hierarchically structured ancient regime (the monarchy, the privileges of the nobility, the political power of the Catholic Church). The French revolutionaries meant to establish in place of the ancient regime a new reason-based order instituting the Enlightenment ideals of liberty and equality. ... enlightenment with the process of undertaking to think for oneself, to employ and rely on one's own intellectual capacities in determining what to believe and how to act.

Q''

What you choose to think must come of your own volition. You can choose to believe what this book has to offer, delving into the theory of QAnon and all that he has posted and implied. Some take him as someone that is here to tell us how to save the world. Others view him as a terrorist that is going to destroy everything that we know. One thing is for sure: you have to take a stance. You have to choose to be enlightened or choose to stay in the dark. You have to decide whether you want to learn everything that he has to say, even if it upends everything you know, or you will have to determine whether you want to continue believing the mainstream media lies. The media is not free speech. It is not a free press. It is being censored and controlled. It is being filtered, telling the people what they want the public to hear and to believe. It is, as he put it, information warfare, meant to censor what we know. However, something big is coming—and that something may very well ride on a President that the world reviles.

Within this book, we are going to be breaking down what is known about QAnon. We will be taking a look at what QAnon is, what the theories are behind it, and why they actually make sense. We will be taking a look at the history of QAnon, the posts, and the reactions that have been garnered over time. QAnon has become regarded as someone highly powerful—they are high up enough in command that they are able to provide us with all sorts of information that we may not have otherwise had access to.

Frequently, Q posts something, only for it to appear again in mainstream media, press releases by the President or other government officials, or predictions on things that may have happened. We will be exploring these in-depth, along with theories as to who the mysterious Q may be—and there are many theories out there. We will look at what the influence of QAnon has been thus far and what it is that Q has set out to do, as well as how the media has responded in their desperation to try to silence him. We will take a look at the New World Order and the end game that Q seems to be pushing for, and why it matters so much at the end of it all.

Ultimately, Q is out there somewhere. Q knows something that we do not yet, and when we finally do come to that enlightenment, the world will make more sense. For now, however, pay attention to the media. Pay attention to how things are worded and manipulated to show you the pictures that they want you to see. Learn to open your eyes. Find that enlightenment. Accept the truth, no matter how hard it may be. The truth will set you free—it will allow you to see how you, and your people, have been used for so long. It will grant you the ability to discover what you must do so you can navigate this world with open eyes, realizing that ultimately, you have been used. You are a cog in the machine—you are there to simply work for those higher-ups—to provide them with what they need. You do not matter. They want to use you. It is up to you to open your eyes to defend yourself and your own. It is time to go for this wild ride of enlightenment. You may realize that there are connections out there that you have never made—but they were right in front of you all this time. As you read, you will be exposed to them—and what you do with them after that point will be up to you. It will be up to you to determine how you choose to approach a situation, or what you choose to do if you want to begin to understand what you were given. The information is out there—you just have to make your decision.

Now, it is time to get started. Are you ready for your own Great Awakening?

Chapter 1

What Is QAnon?

Dep on the internet, where many people are weeded out due to the language's sheer vulgarity, lives the infamous 4chan—the infamous message board. Commonly reviled, 4chan offers what is possibly one of the remaining bastions of free speech on the internet, and on this site, there is one poster who has been active since 2017. The equally as infamous Q has chosen 4chan as his chosen harbinger of cryptic messages that many would be quick to brush off as nothing but fringe nonsense.

Little is known about Q—commonly referred to as QAnon due to the anonymity of 4chan itself. Users are commonly referred to as “anon” due to the lack of usernames. We do not know if Q is a he, or she, or several people all working together. We will refer to Q as “he” throughout this book for simplicity's sake, but it is important to note that no one is certain of who this enigmatic poster is, who may come and go. He appears sporadically and disappears shortly after. However, in recent days, he has been posting far more often, and if you have been watching the news from May of 2020 onward, you would understand why.

The United States is in shambles. And it is all intentional. It is all part of the bigger picture that Q is pushing, trying to open everyone's eyes who are reading his messages. They sound highly paranoid and even delusional at first glance—but if you start piecing together the pieces, you see the truth.

Within this chapter, we will take a look at QAnon, take a look at what it is, what the fringe theory is, and why it is that the media is so intent on silencing this anonymous internet poster once and for all. A quick Google search of QAnon reveals nothing but news sources debunking the theories and a well-placed ad for the Anti-Defamation League, citing it as anti-Semitic, without any sources for actual posts or information about Q himself. So, then—what is QAnon? What is this theory? What is it that is driving this poster to come out now? These are all fantastic questions that we will be attempting to answer as we go throughout this book.

Remember, as you read, you need to keep in mind that little is known about Q. His motivations, his desires, and his end goal may be difficult to find support for. However, if you look, you will find the truth. You will have everything in front of you upon finishing this book—you just have to open your eyes.

QAnon: The Anonymous 4chan Poster

It all began on 4chan in 2017. A mysterious poster appeared, leaving ominous messages that caught the attention of some of the other 4chan browsers. This mysterious poster left messages that seemed almost cryptic sometimes, and yet, people found that they were driven to keep looking. They wanted to understand what was being said, and soon, things started coming true.

These posters seem to have a way to communicate with other people, who respond vaguely through social media as well. A message posted directed toward Michael Flynn with  as the code referred to him. A picture of American flags was quickly met with Flynn changing his own Twitter banner to the US flag within minutes, confirming its connection. Is Flynn Q? Who knows—but they seem to have some sort of connection at the very least.

Q suggested that there were connections between the Bidens and Epstein's island, and sure enough, James Biden, Joe Biden's brother, has landed on an island close to Epstein's own island. Is this proof of a connection? Maybe not definitive, but it certainly is suspicious, and Q believes that there is more to it than you might initially assume. Many other suggestions have been made as well, and upon further investigation, it was found that he was actually on to something. His track record is too good to be nothing but a hunch or dumb luck. He is looking to push something—and it is time for us to figure out what it was.

There are theories out there that all of these people are connected—that they are all trying to do harm, and they are all trying to force their will upon the people at large in a wide variety of ways. Q wants to expose them at all costs, even if that means that Q is exposing theories that seem too off-the-wall to ever be accurate.

QAnon's Purpose

The purpose of QAnon is simple. Now, it may seem crazy at first, but keep an open mind and be willing to read through all of the evidence that you will see throughout this book. The purpose of QAnon is to reveal that ultimately, the world is not what it seems. The idea is that there is a chain of Satan-worshipping pedophiles that are running a global child sex-trafficking ring. Donald Trump, the current President of the United States, should not have gotten the position that he did—and as such, Trump is Public Enemy Number One of these pedophiles running this ring. These pedophiles are highly powerful people—they are in positions of great control over the world at large, and they are controlling this narrative and the media.

According to Q, some people are trafficking children for their personal uses. Sometimes, it is for sex. Other times, it is for ritual sacrifice, and sometimes, even to harvest their blood to use as their sort of drug. It sounds revolting, or even impossible, to many who have not actually had the displeasure of having to work with them, but the truth is simple: it is there and right in front of everyone. All you have to do is follow the tracks.

QAnon is there, trying to expose these monsters for who they are. QAnon is pushing to have people supported that should have been. He is all about pushing for a clear understanding of reality, even though he is often brushed aside as little more than a conspiracy theorist just trying to stir trouble.

The current consensus by mainstream media is that Q is a problem—he is described as a terroristic alt-right fringe group that must be stopped at all costs. However, if the Deep State—the people who control everything—are actually the antagonists in this theory, wouldn't it make sense that they would want to shut it down as soon as possible? The theory is that Donald Trump is waging an invisible war against this Deep State, who initially had control over the election. In the 2016 election, there was a 99% chance that Hillary Clinton would win—and yet, Trump came out on top. People were furious—and now, everything that is currently happening is fabricated. The riots over George Floyd's death? A Democratic push to send the country into ruins for Trump. Trump should never have won the presidency, but somehow he did, and how he is there in the middle of a war.

So, ultimately, Q could be summarized up as trying to reveal the truth behind these pedophiles—he is trying to reveal that the powers may actually be far more harmful than any of us could imagine, and it is up to us to listen. It is up to us to see the patterns and go through our own awakening. As he has said, it is up to us to take that enlightenment and use it as we will. It is up to us to figure out what we can do with it so we can be successful in living a peaceful life.

To Q, the ultimate threat is the Democratic party, often referred to as the Deep State. The Democrats are believed to be those who are causing problems. They want control. They want to wipe the media clean. They are pushing narratives of what is acceptable—and what is not. They want to maintain their utter control, allowing them to continue as they have been.

QAnon's Followers: Is Trump in on it?

On August 19, 2020, President Trump was asked a question at a press conference. This may not sound like it was out of the ordinary—and it certainly wasn't. However, the question itself and the answer to it raised a lot of eyebrows. Trump was asked about what he thought of QAnon. His response was:

"They like me very much, which I appreciate. ... These are people who do not like what's going on in places like Portland and Chicago and other cities and states. I've heard these are people who love our country. I do not know anything about it other than they do supposedly like me, and also would like to see problems in these areas go away."

It sounds like Trump is accepting of QAnon—or even encouraging their engagement and involvement. He appears to be condoning them rather than scorning them, as the media has done. A reporter pushed further, explaining that QAnon is, essentially, the belief that Satanic cannibal pedophiles are out there, and Trump is trying to stop them. In response, Trump smiled.

"Is that supposed to be a bad thing or a good thing? If I can help save the world from problems, I'm willing to put myself out there."

Trump does not declare his opposition to this order—but he does not accept it either. It appears that he leaves it open-ended; however, it is clear that he apparently believes that QAnon is not all bad. Though many Democrats fight the notion that he ought to be in power and that QAnon, according to them, ought to be silenced as soon as possible, Trump appears a bit more accepting of the group and the followers than many expected—most assumed that he would likely forsake the followers, and yet, his lack of dissent almost implies consent to the fact that he accepts, or even improves, of the existence of Q.

Now, the truth is, there is nothing wrong with trying to eliminate a group of cannibalistic pedophiles—to do so would be to make the world a better place. However, it begs the question—who are these cannibals? Do they exist? How do we know? These are questions that Q answers, leaving crumbs behind for 4chan and the world at large to follow over time. Little by little, more is exposed. The messages are just cryptic enough to imply that there is more to the story than may initially meet the eye—and the more you look into the system, the more likely you are to see these connections.

QAnon himself unabashedly praises Trump. Trump is pushed as the great leader, a protector of sorts that is currently the target of a campaign to destroy him and put a shadow president back in his place. According to the leaks by QAnon, President Obama, commonly referred to by his middle name of Hussein, was a shadow president—put into power for the control of the country by these mysterious people trying to maintain control.

Further support from Trump gained some attention when Trump tweeted, “We should immediately pass Voter ID @Voteridplease to ensure the safety and sanctity of our voting system. Also, Paper Ballots as a backup (old fashioned but true!). Thank you!” @AVoteridplease was a Twitter account that, at the time, had 2,000 followers that had been expressing support for QAnon. The account is now suspended on Twitter.

It appears that a group of supporters has been growing as well. There are posters on YouTube that have come to support the theory. Q could be anyone who has internet—and yet even in 2018, Time magazine listed Q as one of the 25 most influential people on the internet. People seek out this person, or group, to understand the world. The believers are growing. They are becoming more vocal, more willing to push their support for the theory, and they are not afraid to admit it.

QAnon is attracting followers around the world—it is no longer contained to just the United States. Since late 2017 with QAnon’s first post, it has become a world of theories all lumped into one, and the number of supporters is only growing. Despite mainstream social media’s attempts to block these people from gathering to share their ideas, they are becoming more widely accepted. Nearly 800 groups, 100 pages, and 1500 ads tied to QAnon were wiped from Facebook, and thousands of Instagram accounts were wiped, all due to the support of QAnon. Facebook has chosen to start blocking the theories, and as a result, almost seems to be confirming its existence. If QAnon theories were little more than just fiction, why would they be deleted with such fervor in an attempt to wipe it out? Additionally, in July of 2020, Twitter removed 7000 accounts believed to be linked to QAnon as well. This became even more widespread, and yet, still, Q is there. There have been protests driven to “save the children” in reference to the pedophiles that Q seeks to expose. Such an innocuous hashtag might not seem like much—but it began to trend and has grown significantly.

Q encourages people to look for evidence, pointing them in the right direction with his crumbs that he posts. They are sporadic and sometimes cryptic, with numbers, letters, and codes posted, but if you are able to discern the meaning, or wait for someone else to do so, you begin to see more and more of the truth revealed in front of you. Q does not force the information—he points out where to look and encourages investigation. As the investigation occurs, more and more becomes uncovered. As more is uncovered, you are able to make your own decisions, as Q wishes.

Remember, Q is not here to force information. He is not here to blindfold or brainwash you. He is here because he wants to expose the truth—he wants the world to wake up—he wants to trigger what he refers to as the Great Awakening, in which we see the truth. He wants us to become aware of our true enemies, those seeking to slowly destroy and erode everything we know and love. They have no regard for life—they are willing to use, abuse, rape, and kill children for their own pleasure and purposes, and Q wants them exposed. Q voices support for movements that are meant to be beneficial—you cannot argue that saving the children is a bad thing. Not one person in their right mind can say that children ought to suffer from sexual abuse. He appeals to things that we care about—we care about our children and would do whatever we could to keep them safe. He appeals to fear—he lets us know that our enemies are attempting to dismantle everything we know and that many of these horror stories that we hear today are little more than false flags, erected to serve a very specific purpose. He voices that we are slowly but surely being taken over by what he refers to as the New World Order—a movement for a totalitarian world government that pushes us all together.

Through supporting Trump, painting him as a hero in all of this, Q has set the stage—he has named his enemies and provided plenty of evidence against them. He has outlined the connections between these powerful people so that they can hardly be denied at this point. He has pointed to Trump as the one who will protect us, and Trump seems to take this seriously. Though he has not publically claimed to be related to Q, he posted a picture of himself sitting on a chair, pointing at the camera with a serious expression on his face. In large, white font, the picture is labeled,

*“IN REALITY, THEY ARE NOT AFTER ME. THEY ARE AFTER YOU.
I’M JUST IN THE WAY”*

This lends credence to the idea that Trump and QAnon. Additionally,

Trump had also retweeted other pro-QAnon tweets and praised self-proclaimed QAnon believer, Marjorie Taylor Greene, when she won the Republican congressional primary in Georgia last week. She is currently, as of August 2020, expected to win a House seat in November.

Ultimately, Trump seems to be well-versed in the QAnon theories at the very least. Though he publicly proclaims otherwise, the evidence is too hard to deny—how do you deny that he could not know what is going on when tweeting this QAnon support? How could he be unaware when he appears to post things that sound very similar to what Q has posted? From the Democrats being snakes trying to destroy everything to stating that COVID19 is a hoax and otherwise, it becomes very clear that Trump is involved in some way, shape, or form—it is just a matter of figuring out who is connected to what and who knows what as a result.

What Is “The Deep State”?

Are you afraid to bring up the deep state in conversation with others because you don't want to sound like a kooky conspiracy theorist? Are you a little confused about exactly what the deep state is? Let's take a look at exactly what “deep state” really means and see if we can shed some light on this mysterious group deep within our government.

The deep state has often been a term used to describe foreign governments that were controlled by proxy officials such as military leaders. Venezuela and Egypt are classic examples of deep state control. In the United States, we started hearing about the deep state in 2017 after the surprising election of President Donald Trump. It refers to a group of government officials with different goals from their agencies' stated goals. These officials are at all levels of our government, from intelligence analysts to agency directors. Their (unstated) goal is to stop, slow down, or in any way possible hinder President Trump and his agenda. Take this quote from former CIA Director John Brennan. He said in 2017 that executive branch officials have “an obligation...to refuse to carry out” any order that they deem unpatriotic or undemocratic. That leaves quite a bit open to interpretation. Don't forget about former FBI Director James Comey, who leaked sensitive information about meetings with the President to the press shortly after being fired in 2017.

The deep state today is considered by some to be a right-wing conspiracy. However, that hasn't always been the case. The deep state in America is not a new concept, but the political sides have swapped. For the last two decades, there has been a left-wing conspiracy theory that deep state actors within our government were responsible for the attacks on 9/11. They claim that 9/11 was a manufactured terrorist disaster in order to kickstart a war in the Middle East for the benefit of the military-industrial complex. The fact that there are people in our country that think our government would kill 3,000 fellow Americans just to start a war is hard to grasp.

After Donald Trump became President in 2017, the same people who believed that the deep state was a band of unelected political influencers now started to see it as a check on a President determined to disrupt Washington's political system. They believed that they could reign in this President, and his national security team almost immediately began dealing with an absurd amount of leaks. These leaks ran the gamut between the serious and the ridiculous. Some leaks have even been downright false. Some of the most egregious examples include a 2017 leaked 11-page White House memo stating that National Guardsmen would help round up illegal immigrants in an 11 state sweep. White House Press Secretary Sean Spicer responded by asserting that the memo was 100% false and not an official White House document. There have also been leaks claiming that presenters at presidential intelligence briefings often left out important information intentionally, either because the President was not smart enough to understand it or he was too dangerous to have the classified information. President Trump criticized the report, calling the leak a "scandal" that leakers would hand out intelligence information "like candy." The White House also unequivocally denied the reports of intelligence briefers "censoring" their briefs to the President.

Need more examples of deep state influence? When Senator Barack Obama ran for President in 2008, he ran largely on a platform critical of President George W. Bush's military interventionist use. However, shortly into Obama's presidency, he seemed to discard his idealism in favor of drone strikes and sending troops into conflicts around the globe.

Sometimes the deep state is not in the government at all but wields such power that they can manipulate the American people through television, news, and social media. We all agree that the mainstream media in the United States is slanted to the left-wing. They continually choose what stories to "show" the news consumer, and often it is critical of Republicans and President Trump. The mainstream media all but ignore legitimate news stories that are critical of Democrats or show President Trump in a positive light. On social media, it's even worse. They routinely shadow ban conservative voices and suppress conservative content. Twitter and Facebook are the worst offenders. There are cases where conservative pages have hundreds or thousands of followers removed overnight. They have their pages unpublished due to controversial material (which usually means conservative). Finally, Google is by far the largest search engine globally and can suppress the search results that they don't like and promote the ones that they do. This manipulation of the news and information, that the American people see, is the essence of the deep state. In some ways, it is even scarier when done by unelected civilians.

The extent of the power of the deep state in U.S. politics can be debated, as well as its left or right-wing leanings. It probably has more to do with the sitting administration than an organized ideology. Could a future President Biden have his medical records leaked by deep staters? What is not debatable is the fact that there are unelected bureaucrats at all levels of our government pulling strings to direct the course of our nation. The fact that these bureaucrats function independently with very little oversight should be a concern of all Americans.

QAnon and the New World Order

QAnon pushes this idea of the New World Order. While we have an entire chapter that will be dedicated to exploring this toward the end of the book, it is important to understand what this is in the first place for this book's entirety. The New World Order, commonly abbreviated in QAnon posts as NOW, is a theory that the "powers that be" are trying to push for a totalitarian world government. The new World Order is the elite of the elite, who are currently pulling the strings of just about everything worldwide. They are pushing a globalist agenda to rule the entire world with an authoritarian world government that would replace the sovereign countries that we have today. It is believed that many of the most influential figures have been part of the cabal that is attempting to push this, and they are orchestrating all of the political and financial events that we see around the world. The whole purpose is to ensure that the entire world is ruled by just one group.

The cabal to which Q refers is a group of people who are believed to be orchestrating it all. These people are the Democrats, many stars in Hollywood, and that they are all led by the Rothschild family. In particular, three groups are repeatedly named as the most important to watch: The Saud family, the Rothschilds, and George Soros. These three groups are referred to as the puppet masters behind it all.

November 11, 2017, Q posted:

“Hard to swallow.

Important to progress.

Who are the puppet masters?

House of Saud (6+++) - $4 Trillion+

Rothschild (6++) - $2 Trillion+

Soros (6+) - $1 Trillion+

Focus on above (3).

“Vladimir Putin: The New World Order Worships Satan”

Q”

What does this mean? It points out several key questions to be thought about. It names three puppet masters. It points out several connections between these different people, pointing at Epstein’s island as an important clue within it all. As you will continue to read, you will see that ultimately, Epstein’s island becomes the center of a lot of these different theories. These people believed to be part of the cabal visited his island with differing frequencies.

Shortly after posting the above post, Q goes further, listing out several banks that are owned by the Rothschilds. Upon reading over the list, you discover that just about every international bank is under their influence—they control national banks in all but three countries in the world. The only countries that do not have a Rothschild-owned central bank are Cuba, North Korea, and Iran. Yes, even the US Federal Reserve is a privately owned company, owned and controlled by the Rothschilds, Rockefellers, and Morgans. It is responsible for printing out the money, and the Federal Reserve building sits upon land that is officially out of the US government’s jurisdiction. US laws do not bound them. This idea lends credence to the belief that this mysterious puppet master or masters are pulling strings behind everything. If they did not want to create one New World Order, why would we have banks all be interrelated? Why would we tie them all together? Why would all of these central banks be linked together? These are questions that are asked by Q, and we will attempt to answer these in much more depth, along with other evidence of this New World Order that is attempting to control everything. You are not as free as you think you are.

A History of QAnon

And thus, we get to the history of QAnon. There is a lot to parse through—so we will be addressing several of the most common theories that QAnon has pushed on 4chan, 8chan (now known as 8kun), and other sources. Being able to understand these theories, recognizing what QAnon has done, attested to, and claimed. We will be looking at several dense topics here, looking at how we can begin parsing down these dense theories with the information that Q has provided. We will be looking at several of the biggest theories that we will consider to understand what Q has insisted upon. As you read, the evidence provided is almost undeniable. Coincidences are one thing, but it is impossible to have coincidences at this degree. If you are ready to begin your own Great Awakening, then let's get started.

QAnon Posts

QAnon posts sporadically on the internet on anonymous chat boards, primarily 4chan and 8chan. He leaves drops for people—crumbs of information that are meant to slowly but surely lead the way to the truth. He does not seek to flat out tell us what he is doing or what he believes—he makes us work it out. His posts can vary from a few words to being lengthy, or even several posts long. At one point, he left a list that was so long it took several posts to actually get it all in, listing out hundreds of banks owned by the Rothschilds.

The posts that you will view often become censored rapidly on the internet. Social media does not want his posting to be spread throughout the internet, and as a result, if you do not follow those boards, such as 4chan's /pol/ board, standing for "Politically Incorrect" in reference to the hundreds of beliefs that are often not considered mainstream, or are often scorned by the common people. They are beliefs that are typically considered politically incorrect, such as scorn for the victims in police brutality, quickly pulling up sources to prove that the individual victims were actually not nearly as innocent as the media liked to make them believe. It is primarily a posting spot for the far-right, typically men in particular, who want a place to share their unpopular opinions, often with garish vulgarity deeply intertwined into its board culture, making it difficult to understand or get along with.

However, Q has stuck to his own posting, typically through much more articulate and less vulgar language. First appearing in October of 2017, his posts imply that he has top-clearance knowledge of events before they ever actually occur, and he has posted thousands of messages, all of which are followed and tracked closely. Though the media itself tends to admonish Q and his followers, much can be learned if you take a look at what matters. In particular, you must look at the drops—which you can find if you know where to look online. Among the most popular sources currently are qmap.pub, although how long the site may stay active is up in the air. At the time of writing, in September 2020, this site was active and allowed for a massive database that could be searched through. Qmap offered up all posts written by Q, along with a wide range of articles that can be read summarizing the information that Q has posted. This is a wealth of information, all of which would be integral to being able to understand the truth behind Q—however, keep in mind that at this time, the media and the Left government are both trying desperately to get this information wiped off the internet entirely. This source may disappear in the future.

QAnon Key Phrases

Q seems to have several phrases that are posted repeatedly. They are used with very specific meanings, and they have also been retweeted or even said out loud by Trump, those close to Trump, and other followers. Let's look at these key phrases that are used repeatedly to get that background information understood. This information becomes critical for further understanding of this book. There are several that are his most famous—if you read through Q's posts, you will see these written out at some point.

The Great Awakening

The Great Awakening refers to the idea that our world is built upon lies that are designed to rule and control us. Our system is built upon deception upon being able to prevent us from knowing the truth. The Great Awakening is there to allow us to penetrate through those lies to reveal what truly lies beneath the surface. The first phase of this is the heightened awareness of the Deep State—the governmental entities that are corrupt and attempting to expand their own power outside of the law's bounds. They will enforce their agenda regardless of popular opinion or elections.

The second phase involves the investigation of the Deep State and its alliances. The Deep State is linked to several key sectors, such as media, nonprofits, charities, public schools and universities, governmental institutions, Hollywood, and more. The idea is that the vast majority of those that you believed were trustworthy, your doctors, educators, religious leaders, and the like are all deceiving you. They are all lying to keep you down and enforce their own agendas.

The third phase of the Great Awakening is recognizing that those who rule us are not just amoral and seeing us as collateral damage—they are there to actively harm us. They are there to tear us down systematically, and they do so with a smile on their faces as they tell you that they are safe, that they can be trusted, and that they are there to help you.

Dark To Light

This next phrase is one that Q uses to reference the fears of these mysterious rulers. What they fear the most is being exposed. When their crimes are brought out of the darkness into the light of scrutiny, they lose that power that they have over the general population. If they have that system in place in which they are the protectors, they do not want their own harm, their crimes, and their deception to come to light. Bringing it to light, they would lose that power that allowed them to run primarily free from scrutiny. They would be defeated if they were seen for what they truly were.

Where We Go One, We Go All (WWG1WGA)

When it comes to Q, most people think of this phrase. It is meant to express the egalitarian nature of the QAnon movement. Every country, according to Q, is suffering underneath the same New World Order's oppression. Everyone in the world would see vast benefits upon being freed from this oppression as well. This movement is designed to bring together anonymous citizens with the high-ranking military leaders attempting to push it to allow us to see the truth. When this all comes to light, we see that ultimately, we are all equal. Everyone's contributions are valued and respected, and when Q has been thanked, his response is that no one is above or below, and states, "We work for you."

These people are sick

This phrase is used to describe the depravity of the rulers, commonly referred to as The Cult. The history with Jeffrey Epstein is just the beginning of it all—it is there to begin to awaken us, but there is so much more beneath the surface that can be seen as well. Q acknowledges that The Cult is engaging in ritual and blood sacrifices of children. They thrive upon making these children, often trafficked, suffer as they kill them. Their depravity is truly sickening, and that is precisely why they try to hide it—they know that if their ways were to come out into the open, they would be exposed, and the general public would abhor them for it. They are genuinely sick.

Trust the plan

This phrase is meant to remind the people that the presumed military leaders who are protecting Trump from The Cult are well aware of what they are doing. They have a very clear path that they are following to achieve their victories, and they do not want to see that plan derailed. Though the actions may not always make sense to the general public, Q reminds us to trust that the authorities, that those who are fighting back, have a plan that they are using. They have their own offensive maneuvers meant to help begin to break apart the very power upon which The Cult is founded. They will tear down the financial and legal shields. They will reveal the chains of sex trafficking. They will rip down their military support. And, above all else, the plan will tear apart the control of the narrative that the Cult currently has. Their plan involves empowering the ordinary citizens to allow for the truth to be spread. Trust the plan—and follow it.

They want you divided

You will commonly see Q refer to The Cult as “They.” In this instance, you see that the Cult believes that you must be divided. They want there to be hatred between the different groups—the current racial tension caused by The Cult. What about the need for differentiation of classes or age groups? Also triggered by The Cult.

Additionally, religions and political parties were said to be purposely pushed by the Cult to divide us. The more we focus on dividing ourselves, the more we fight ourselves, the weaker we become. We are powerful if we get together. If we work to fight against the Cult, we can win—but they know this, and they create dissent to prevent us from doing so.

They think you are sheep

According to Q, The Cult believes “you will follow the stars.” This is referring to celebrities in media. They are the people who are pushed into this position in which they are in the limelight. The people, the Cult believes, are driven primarily by wanting to pursue these people that they relate to. The idea is that people are willing to be sheep. They are driven by simply repeating and parroting back what the stars, the people planted to be seen as leaders, will believe.

However, Q offers clues that can be understood by critical thinking power, encouraging people to think. This is because QAnon's movement is designed to push people to think for themselves. They think you are sheep—but the truth is, you are not. You have the ability to see the truth—you just have to take off the rose-tinted glasses.

Bigger than you can imagine. Expand your thinking

Q repeatedly encourages followers to reevaluate everything that people take for granted. The things that you think that you know may not actually be what you know, and that is a problem for many. According to Q, The Cult may have dated back to even ancient times, passing information down throughout the family. It is believed that the Cult may be manipulating the historical events that we know, ensuring that they remain in power at all costs. This is the aspect of “bigger than you can imagine.” They are dipping their hands into all of the funds, taking the money, and controlling everything. They may even have access to technology and treatments that are impossible for us even to begin to comprehend. When thinking about what they do, how they do it, and who they are, you must remember to expand your thinking. Nothing is impossible when you think about these people and what they may be doing.

Track resignations

Q has asserted that, underneath the surface, there is a wide range of corrupt players running the government. He has asserted that we must track the resignations to begin understanding the connections between everyone. By making it a point to track the resignations, retirements, firings, and even deaths, we can see that ultimately, there is far more underneath the surface than we seem to realize. By tracking resignations, we can begin to understand the connections.

Their need for symbols will be their downfall

Another point that has been pushed repeatedly is that their need for symbols, which may be ritualistic in nature, makes them vulnerable to being detected. Because they are constantly following the same shapes, repeating them over and over again, they can be spotted. Some of the most common of the symbols that Q has identified are:

- Bandaged fingers
- Black left eyes

- One eye within a pyramid
- Owls
- Pyramids
- Red rings
- Red shoes
- The Y-shaped horns that are reminiscent of the goat deity Baphomet

Nothing can stop what is coming. Nothing. Now comes the pain

Another common headline is that in which the statement is that nothing can stop what is coming. This might sound discouraging, but the truth is, even with what you can see, justice will prevail. Although we have all of these setbacks standing in our way, we will be able to get past them. Justice is coming, and those that are responsible for all of the wrongdoings will suffer.

We have it all

This is meant to refer to the massive amounts of evidence irrefutable about the criminals attempting to hide what they have done. Q has plenty of evidence that will help to secure what is known, which will happen thanks to The Storm.

Patriots in control

People who have voiced concerns about Trump, such as about the impeachment or election fraud problems, arose. Q, however, has repeatedly assured the people that “patriots [are] in control.” This is important—no legal tricks will protect the criminals or allow them to walk free. They are caught and cornered—they will be overcome. Q promises us this.

The day is coming when they cannot walk down the street

Along with the idea of patriots being in control, Q has promised that the day will come when these criminals, these depraved people in power, will no longer be in control, and there will be nothing they can do to defend themselves. This is important to keep in mind—it is Q promising that justice will be served one way or another, and Q is confident that time will come.

You are the news now

Donald Trump has repeatedly claimed that there is “fake news.” We have seen it so much that it has become a meme. This fake news, Q has exposed, is actually genuine—the media is taken control of. There are several journalists, according to Q, who all take bribes, and the media is concentrated within six powerful companies, all of which control it. However, despite this, Q notes that the anonymous individuals on the internet are vast and voluntary—they are able to disseminate the truth through their own methods—social media, for example, and also having conversations with friends and family to show the world the truth. Through these methods, we see that there are ways that the truth can be disseminated—we see that as believers, as those who have gone through our own Great Awakenings, that we can spread the truth to others.

We know what happens in the end. God wins

Q has established himself as religious. There have been several instances in which Biblical verses have been quoted, and Q has, time and again, asked for us to pray. Q believes that we will be able to defeat the evil that preys upon us through all of us working together. Through working together and fighting off these great enemies, we learn that we do have the power to defeat them. We can come out on top if we know what to look for. God, and we will win.

“For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.” – Ephesians 6:12

Hillary Clinton and Pizzagate

One point that QAnon has pushed, since the beginning, is that of Hillary Clinton’s involvement in Pizzagate. If you are unfamiliar with Pizzagate, it is a theory in which Hillary Clinton and several other Democratic Party officials were operating a trafficking ring out of a pizzeria known as Comet Ping Pong. Allegedly, Comet Ping Pong specialized in pizza, along with a side of child sex trafficking. It is alleged that in emails, Clinton would talk about ordering Cheese Pizza, with it referencing children.

In March of 2016, John Podesta’s email account was hacked. Podesta was the campaign manager for Hillary Clinton at the time, and WikiLeaks published the emails that were posted. Within the emails, it is alleged that there was code for child sex trafficking, included ordering children as if they were pizza. Pizzagate alleged that there were tunnels underneath Comet Ping Pong, owned by James Alefantis. According to Q’s followers, Alefantis himself is suspicious—his name, they state, shares an uncanny resemblance to the French phrase, “I love children” – J’aime les enfants.

Podesta and Alefantis have exchanged a multitude of emails that were all listed out to allow for the assumption of guilt—they repeatedly talked about cooking or food in general, with pizza and pasta being heavily favored. The belief is that they were talking about boys and girls as their preferences based upon which dishes they discussed.

Podesta is directly tied to Clinton, is believed to be linked. Clinton, however, is the truer evil. She is listed as “Evil” on Qmap when looking at the players. She was expected to win with 99% certainty, but when Trump somehow came atop, the whole world was in shock. Hillary Clinton is believed to be linked to all sorts of different crimes against children. In particular, the Clinton Foundation is believed to be connected to child trafficking, sending children off for sinister purposes from areas they pretend to be for humanitarian purposes. Additionally, Clinton is believed to be linked to covering up pedophile rings within the country.

Clinton is one of the biggest threats—and Q wants to take her down.

Pedogate and Adrenochrome

According to Q, the people in power are pedophiles, and they have managed to keep the world under their control for centuries. They hunt both power and youth, and they work to keep that through the use of child sex trafficking. In particular, it is believed that children are tortured as a result of creating adrenochrome. Adrenochrome is the result of the oxidation of adrenaline—creating that adrenaline high that we usually think of when we ride a roller coaster or engage in other activities that may be risky. In the 50s and 60s, adrenochrome was noted to create psychotic reactions that led to derealisation and euphoria.

It is believed that children were being used as a source for this adrenochrome—they were being tormented and tortured before death to trigger the release of adrenaline, and that adrenaline became adrenochrome. At that point, the blood would be either transfused or drunk to take on its effect. In particular, it is essential to note that the blood type O-Negative is a universal blood type—it can be used in a transfusion for any people without regard for their blood type. Additionally, it is most commonly found in Blacks—especially in Haitians. The Clinton Foundation had a heavy presence in Haiti after the 2010 earthquake that decimated the region.

Shortly after the earthquake, UN officials noted that children have gone missing from the Haitian hospitals—within the first ten days, 15 children had disappeared from hospitals themselves. This is just reporting the children who were missing from hospitals as well—others went missing during the time. It was published that these children went missing due to trafficking for international adoption—but many followers of Q think otherwise.

John Podesta's emails contained references to walnuts and walnut sauce. It is believed that walnuts are referencing pineal glands while walnut sauce would then reference adrenochrome.

"I'm coming to town the week after next and will bring some walnuts!"

"Hey John, We know you are a true master of cuisine and we have appreciated that for years ... But walnut sauce for the pasta? Mary, plz tell us the straight story, was the sauce actually very tasty?"

"I should go through? I look forward to working with you (and maybe getting some of that pasta and walnut sauce dish!!)"

"We promised her a package, Rachel cleared that. I think we created one – like Walnut or something. Does this ring a bell?"

All four of these are emails at varying times that were leaked from Podesta's account that directly reference walnuts. Again, we also see a reference to pasta—one of the keywords believed to be linked to children.

Deep State

The Deep State is a theory in which collusion and cronyism are being used to veil a hidden government that runs the government that we all see around us. It is the idea that the government that we elect into power is still under the control of a hidden government and that through doing so, there is the ability to govern the US without as much issue. The idea is that DC is run by these politicians who are there primarily for one purpose—for serving themselves. This is commonly referred to as the Swamp, hence the calls to "Drain the swamp!" that you may come across.

The Deep State refers to a network entrenched within the government itself, and the corruption is serious—it must be taken care of slowly. It is believed that upwards of 70% of elected politicians may be involved in this swamp. You may commonly see sentences such as "THE SWAMP RUNS DEEP" about the people's corruption in these situations. The swamp is loaded with people who must be eliminated—they must be removed from power, but that will take time.

The interesting part of this, however, is that Trump tweets about the Swamp as well. In particular, on Sept 5, 2018, President Trump tweeted:

“I’m draining the Swamp, and the Swamp is trying to fight back. Do not worry, we will win!”

In response, Q took a screenshot of the post and left it for followers, stating, “THE SWAMP RUNS DEEP.”

Q has listed out several different people suspected of being involved with the Swamp. These are people who, despite being referenced as being influential and trustworthy by the news online, they are highly problematic. They are believed to be involved in these agendas to keep the US down and under control. These are the people that are believed to be directly responsible for being controlled, and they are thought that they will be in complete control of everything else as well over time. Q wants them out. Trump wants them out. According to Q’s theories, it is only a matter of time until they are all eliminated, and the Swamp is truly drained.

The Swamp, according to Q, is filled up with several different types of people. There are puppets, and there are puppet masters. The puppets are just the pawns for those who are indeed in power, and yet, it is believed that they will not truly be in control. There are people above even the Clintons, above Podesta and Alefantis. It is thought that there are enemies that are much larger than these people, and they are hidden. They control the narrative, which grants them control over public opinion. Through being able to manage and sway public opinion, they are capable of maintaining their real power. They can continue to keep the people under their control if they are continually working with themselves.

Jeffrey Epstein

Jeffrey Epstein was a billionaire financier. On July 6, 2019, he was arrested for the sex trafficking of minors from New York and Florida between 2002 and 2005. What is notable about him is that he owned a private island in the Caribbean, which he called Little Saint James. On his island, he had underground tunnels and a strange temple. According to Q, it is believed that the temple and tunnels were used by the cult to perform satanic abuse of children, along with cannibalism. Epstein is the definition of evil according to Q, and for a good reason. His island was believed to be a common meeting ground, and the puppet masters, along with several other well-known and powerful people, have come out to this island several times.

For example, Bill Clinton has spent time on this island dozens of times, riding aboard Epstein’s private jet—the Lolita Express. Lolita, if you were unaware, refers to young girls used for sex. It is used to describe girls as “precociously seductive or sexual.” This means that to get to Epstein’s island, people were riding on a plane named after a sexualized child. The name Lolita itself references a character from Vladimir Nabokov’s 1955 novel, Lolita, in which the narrator is obsessed with a 12-year-old girl, nicknamed Lolita. He eventually sexually abuses her, making Epstein’s plane a sick reference to this idea of sexual abuse of children already, even before anyone landed on his island.

The rituals believed to be performed upon this island are meant to sacrifice children to Moloch—a Canaanite god associated with child sacrifice. It is said that those who sacrifice to Moloch do so by boiling a child alive in the bowels of a statue with a man’s body and a bull’s head. These offerings, reaped through fire or war, were said to reward people with wealth. Within the bible, children were sacrificed in a shrine and were passed through the fire to Moloch.

It is important to note that Jeffrey Epstein died, officially by suicide, on August 10, 2019. However, many people have their doubts about his death actually being a suicide—it is believed that the death may have been an attempt to silence him, something that is pushed further based upon evidence such as his long-time friend, Ghislaine Maxwell, posting a review on Amazon for a book that she had been photographed reading not long before the review being posted. On August 15, 2019, a G. Maxwell posted a review for a book titled The Book of Honor: The Secret Lives and Deaths of CIA Operatives by Ted Gup. Her review was titled “A comforting read after a personal tragedy,” and the review read:

“A good friend of mine died recently under very tragic circumstances. Some of us saw it coming for quite a while, but it was still a huge shock when it finally happened. I picked up this book at the advice of a friend and absolutely couldn’t put it down. I’d read it walking the dog, getting fast food, or even just lounging around the house. It helped me realized that my friend really believed in something and that giving your life for the CIA, NSA, FBI, Mossad, or other intelligence agency is truly a higher calling and not something to mourn. A wholehearted recommendation.”

Sound suspicious? Though it would be hard to prove that this was Ghislaine Maxwell herself, it is important to note that the reviewer’s name was G. Maxwell. Do you believe in coincidences? Q does not—it seems too perfect to ignore.

COVID-19

COVID-19 is undoubtedly one of the most significant occurrences of 2020. Originating from China, this disease rapidly spread across the world. According to Q, however, there is more to it than the media is sharing. It is believed that this virus was actually engineered by China's Wuhan Institute of Virology, along with assistance from Harvard University. It was unleashed in hopes of wreaking havoc in the 2020 presidential election to destabilize hope and understanding in Trump's presidency to prevent his reelection. The virus has pervasively impacted just about every aspect of every person's life and is undeniably powerful. This virus has led to the demolition of the stock market, the economy has been damaged immensely, and just about all gains of the POTUS have been wiped, all in one fell swoop.

One of Q's most recent posts, posted on July 30, 2020, states:

Q”

This post is long—but it says a lot about COVID-19 in general. It becomes clear, through reading over this, that Covid-19, referred to throughout the post as C19, is there to do several things, including:

- Demolish Trump’s record gains in the economy by causing unemployment to skyrocket
- Destroy the lowered unemployment number, which was achieved by causing lockdowns across the world that meant that people could not work
- Biden is officially sheltered from the general public on the guise of staying safe from the virus, allowing them to have a cover for his current mental condition, which appears to be rapidly declining.
- Biden is sheltered from the exposure from Ukraine because the media is too focused on COVID-19 to notice.
- Biden is sheltered from the presidential debates thanks to COVID-19, meaning that he continues to hide his mental faculties.
- The Democratic Convention would be delayed
- The long-term strategies for the POTUS rallies would be prevented due to rules against gathering.
- Creating an inability to create and find peace during such difficult times, achieved by restricting access to the church
- Causing people to be forced to stay apart under the guise of a virus being too risky
- Promoting mail-in voting as a method that is safe in the times of COVID-19, allowing for tampering other election by bypassing the NSA election security
- Push Democratic wish list items through state bailout stimulus.
- Increasing national debt by putting China into a position of power
- Testing just how much the general population would comply and accept what they were told to do, allowing for an understanding of general obedience.

- Likewise, testing just how far people would go to not accept what is going on.
- Testing conditional limits over the general State authority, learning just how much power the mayors and governors have over their cities and states
- Testing the conditional limits that the media has over censoring.

According to Q, the Democrats benefit from such a situation, and Q asserts that the Democrats are the ones that are pushing these illnesses more than anything else. Q argues that COVID-19 is being fueled intentionally to push numbers up over and over again, allowing for that control to be maintained and confirmed over others. Through being able to maintain that control, they can keep the narrative that they still need the money they are reaching for, and they will still need that same level of attention and focus that they have been seeking out. This is imperative to note—the Democrats are intentionally infecting people. They are pushing the riots that have been seen from May onward in 2020. As people riot, the disease naturally spreads further as well. They have inserted sick people into areas where infection rates had started to drop, allowing for the next wave of the virus to be triggered.

It is believed that the Democrats pushed for nursing home policies that deliberately led to the spikes that were seen as well. Patients with COVID-19 were placed in nursing homes, knowing that the infection rates would then, shortly after, skyrocket as well. This was especially noted in states such as New York, where the disease became a major outbreak and killed far more than was expected.

#SaveTheChildren

The hashtag SaveTheChildren was designed to bring awareness to the people who have been lost to human trafficking. It was designed to help spread the idea that people are disappearing—and that we must find them somehow. However, this is far easier said than done. However, this hashtag very rapidly became something that QAnon followers were willing and able to use on their own. As social media cracked down on QAnon related material, the Q followers needed some other way to show themselves and those around them that they exist. They worked to take over this hashtag for themselves. They are calling for #SaveTheChildren—except now, instead of children being trafficked for adoption or maid work, children are being taken hostage to be used by this cabal who wants to use and abuse them.

Though #SaveTheChildren had honorable roots, the truth is, people took it over. Those who posted on 4chan noted that this particular hashtag could be utilized.

Over time, this hashtag was used to help push awareness by Q followers, and the result was temporary censorship of the hashtag on Twitter. It racked up 240,000 tweets in that first 24 hours and the numbers have only gone up since there. However, the media has condoned this usage, as have those who initially posted the hashtag prior to Q taking over.

Especially since the general population at large right now is not ready to see the truth, it becomes the case that the #SaveTheChildren movement makes some of the potential audience shy away from the hashtag entirely. It is a hard pill to swallow that the powers that be at the moment are working to harvest adrenochrome from children, or that they may be intentionally working to benefit from child sex slavery rings. While pushing for awareness is essential, it is also something that must be done with caution. Too much too quickly could lead to an utter rejection of the information on the basis of it being too obscure, too out there, or too unbelievable to someone who had not awakened to the truth.

Ultimately, the hashtag has skyrocketed in popularity for both Q followers and those with no interest whatsoever, primarily because it is difficult to talk against child abuse or child sex slavery. It is challenging to be the one saying, “Hey, I’m against this!” toward something that is widely regarded as degenerate and disgusting.

The result is that there have been rallies spreading across the world in recent weeks over this idea of saving the children. Small and large, there are protests out there attempting to wake up other people. Signs such as “Save the Children!” or “Wake up!” can be seen in these protests. In these rallies, however, there are other signs that are seen as well. You can see signs and slogans that are recognized as being popular QAnon phrases, such as “Symbolism will be their downfall” or “WWG1WGA” As these signs pop up more and more, it becomes clear that the army of people around the world who believe, who recognize that ultimately, QAnon is not some crazy theory that is out there just to cause problems, but is actually supported with evidence, are growing. The followers are growing. QAnon is pushing for this theory that Trump is here, protecting the people. On August 9, 2020, a rally occurred in Spokane, WA, loaded up with signs that were meant to draw attention to the matter. Will these signs reach everyone? It is doubtful—but it is something to consider heavily to protect those involved. In doing so, lives will be saved.

These theories may seem out there—they may seem impossible if you are new to this information that is right before you, but the truth is right there, waiting for you. Take some time to familiarize yourself with the information provided by Q himself, taking a look at Qmap to begin to see these posts. Read some of them—there are over 4000 as of August 2020, and there will most likely be more by the time you are reading this. However, read through some of them—discover the truth. Recognize that there is more going on beneath the surface than most of us seem to realize. You will see it if you open your eyes—all you have to do is try.

QAnon, Fact or Fiction?

Many people like to explain away QAnon, saying that anything that has come true is nothing but a coincidence. However, how many coincidences are actually mathematically possible in one go? How realistic is it to assume that every single coincidence is just that—coincidental? The truth is, we must be willing to acknowledge and accept the fact that it is impossible for every single event to be coincidental. There is no way that every single thing that has happened is coincidental.

Keep in mind that, if you have looked at mainstream media in recent times, you probably have seen that QAnon is something that was deemed to be false. It was clear that the media did not want people to believe that there could be any truth to QAnon in the first place. The media tried to control it all. As Q has said, “You are the news now.”

At first, Q’s posts were meant to be puzzling—they were supposed to make people figure out what was meant through a vagueness that would allow for plausible deniability. However, over the years, Q has gotten bolder and more direct. As Q asks repeatedly, how many coincidences are mathematically possible? In this chapter, we are going to start diving into several of those “coincidences” that the media states are not real or are people trying too hard to stretch the truth.

“The Calm Before the Storm” and “WWG1WGA”

In October 2017, President Trump met up with a large group of military generals. As they all stood there, being photographed by the reporters that were there, Trump stated, “You guys know what this represents? Maybe it is the calm before the storm. Could be the calm. The calm before the storm.” When pressed for clarification, he continued on, “We have got the world’s great military people in this room. I will tell you that. And we’re going to have a great evening. Thank you all for coming.” Every time he was asked to clarify, he responded, “You will find out.” He has still not explained what he meant, other than stating that we will find out.

However, not much longer, 23 days later, in fact, Q posted for the first time. The same day that Q posted, President Trump wrote on Twitter, “Very little reporting about the GREAT GDP numbers announced yesterday (3.0 despite the big hurricane hits). Best consecutive Q’s in years!” Now, to be fair, Twitter at the time had a 140 character limit on all material that was posted. This meant that, in order for this message to be published, Trump HAD to shorten “quarters” to Q. However, is this a coincidence? It might be. However, note the reference to storms with hurricanes, alongside mention of “Q’s.” This is just one in a series of coincidences that can be seen when discussing QAnon.

That same day, there was another Tweet posted, in which Trump mentioned that his administration would provide full disclosure and transparency to the people to put to rest conspiracy theories. This began by declassifying the JFK files. It is worth noting that on this day, he claimed that his administration would be pushing for that transparency, and we see Q appear for the very first time 30 minutes prior to that declaration.

Since then, “The calm before the storm” became a recurring point that was posted by Q. What the storm could be, has not been mentioned. However, when answering the question that he posed, “Where did the Storm derive from? Some things leave lasting impressions.” He then posted a link to a YouTube video to the trailer for the 1996 trailer for the movie White Squall.

This trailer shows a band of men learning to survive and thrive together on a ship. In this trailer, we hear two key Q phrases—“Where we go one, we go all,” and “The calm before the storm.” The movie trailer shows a vast range of people who all sailed on their own. It shows one character saying, “I do not want to be who I was when I left—anonymous.” Another character, the captain of the ship, states, “I will challenge them, and they will come together.” They survived several points and eventually faced what is called a “white squall,” which one of the characters in the trailer quickly waves away as being a “phenomenon of the imagination.” Together, the men on the ship fight together to survive through sheer courage and loyalty.

Coincidence? Maybe, but again—there can only be so many coincidences before they are mathematically impossible. In this trailer, you see a story that is not unlike that of the QAnon movement—Q calls for people on these anonymous forums that tend to call themselves “autists” in regards to their ability to hyper-focus on what they see around them. They focus on the little details and notice even the smallest of coincidences, which they can use to start piecing together patterns. Q has called for people to come together. Q has stated that “Where we go one, we go all!”

This link to the trailer came on June 28, 2018. It is important to note here that Ridley Scott wrote this movie, and he founded the Scott Free Productions. In December of 2018, this becomes relevant in President Trump’s posts on Twitter: “Michael Cohen asks judge for no Prison Time.” You mean he can do all of the TERRIBLE, unrelated to Trump, things having to do with fraud, big loans, Taxis, etc., and not serve a long prison term? He makes up stories to get a GREAT & ALREADY reduced deal for himself and get... his wife and father-in-law (who has the money?) off Scott Free. He lied for this outcome and should, in my opinion, serve a full and complete sentence.” Note the use of “Scott Free” as if referring to a name as opposed to stating scot-free. However, how many coincidences are possible?

To take this further, Q posts later that afternoon writing, “The Art of Trolling the Fake News Media.” Within this step guide, he posts a link to the Wikipedia page to Scott Free Productions, writing:

“>>White Squall

>>WWG1WGA (from the movie)

Thank you for playing.

Q”

Coincidence? Q wants you to believe otherwise.

The Storm and “We Are With You.”

President Trump has repeatedly stated that there is bad weather. One such way occurred in 2018 in which Trump avoided the media, stating that he had to go due to bad weather. However, as he was leaving, the skies were perfectly clear. In response to this, Q has commented, citing a headline posted by The Hill that stated:

“Trump ducks media cites bad weather despite clear skies as he leaves for Iowa”

In response, Q wrote, “A message that nobody but who understands? Q”

The message here is that we are currently in the storm that Trump has mentioned. Since then, Q has begun using “We are with you” or “WRWY” to show that the QAnon team or individual is there for the people. Since this has happened, President Trump has even started using “We are with you” in response to catastrophic damage in response to storms across the country. Coincidence? Again, you will have to make that judgment—but there are only so many coincidences that can exist before you have to start wondering if it is possible to have so many at any point in time.

Additionally, Q has published a post in which he states that Trump will post on Twitter, saying, “My fellow Americans, the Storm is upon us.....” While this has not happened yet, it is something that Q has encouraged the people to beware of.

This has gone further—during the trials about the Mueller Report, President Trump posted on July 24, 2019, on Twitter, “TRUTH IS A FORCE OF NATURE!” The next day, Q posted a link to the Wiktionary definition of “force of nature,” which states:

“A mighty natural force which is beyond human control, notably if potentially catastrophic, such as the elements (e.g. storms and extreme temperatures) or geological (e.g. seismic and volcanic activity).”

Further down that same Wiktionary definition, you can see:

“Myths and religions often ascribe natural forces to supernatural beings, as acts of (a) god(s) or hero(es) shaking the earth, raising a storm or flood, etc.”

Note the mention of raising a storm in this definition. President Trump is a smart man—he is not coincidentally posting all of these references to storms.

Trump’s “Tippy-Top” Condition, White Rabbits, and Alice in Wonderland

If there is any doubt as to who Q is or whether e is genuinely an insider to the Trump administration, it can be quelled with one simple line from a speech given. On January 29, 2018, a poster on 4chan wrote to Q saying, “Maybe Q can work the phrase “tip-top” into the SOTU (State of the Union) as a shout out to the board?”

The State of the Union address occurred the next day on January 30, 2018. The speech would have already been written. However, during his Easter address, alongside a man in a white rabbit suit wearing glasses, stated:

“Also, I want to thank the White House Historical Association and all of the people that work so hard with Melania, with everybody, to keep this incredible house or building, or whatever you want to call it — because there is no name for it; it is special — and we keep it in tip-top shape. We call it sometimes tippy-top shape. And it is a great, great place.”

That same evening, on April 2, 2018, Q wrote, “It was requested. Did you listen today? Q”

The white rabbit was relevant here as well—it was a reference to the movie, The Matrix. In this movie, the main character has to choose one of two pills, a red pill, and a blue pill. In taking the red pill, the character is forced to see the unpleasant truth. By taking the blue pill, they would remain unaware of the truth, living happily in ignorance.

The anonymous posters on 4chan and 8chan often refer to themselves as “red-pilled” about their ability to understand the truth. In being “red-pilled,” they are going down the “rabbit hole,” following the rabbit. However, the white rabbit also refers to the one in the movie Alice in Wonderland.

Q has mentioned several times, “Alice & Wonderland.” It was unsure what the point of this was, but it has happened dated back to December of 2017. However, in 2018, there were emails declassified in which one email, addressed to Hillary Clinton, referred to her as “Madam ‘Alice.’” Though this alone may not be a clear connection to Alice in Wonderland, it goes a step further, with the individual signing their email with “‘Hatter’”

Q took this a step further, listing out that the characters were easily understood. References to “Wonderland” were stated to be Saudi Arabia, with Hillary being Alice. Prior to Clinton losing the election, she received massive donations from Saudi Arabia, which rapidly dried up as soon as she lost the election. Of course, when she no longer possessed any power because she lost the election, she stopped receiving them. According to Q, “PAY-FOR-PLAY only works when you hold a position of POWER. It is only a matter of time. Q”

Tripcodes

Tripcodes are generated to create anonymity. Accounts can be made with tripcodes to create a pseudo-account in which your posts can all be identified as your own but without revealing any of your personal information. All that is used to identify you as that specific tripcode. This means that there are ways for Q to post in an identifiable manner, allowing people to see that they are who they say they are. Otherwise, anyone who simply tagged “Q” at the end of their post could be mistaken for the actual Q poster.

On 8chan, Q has repeatedly updated his tripcode to allow for posts to be tracked. Every now and then, there are updates confirmed to keep the account secure. However, these tripcodes have been referenced by President Trump. In particular, on August 5, 2018, Q updated and confirmed his tripcode. His new one at the time was: !A6yxsPKia.

Q then dropped a post shortly after with that new tripcode in use. And then, not much later, on that very same day, President Trump tweeted something that appeared to have a typo:

“Democrats want Open Borders, and they want to abolish ICE, the brave men and women that are protecting our Country from some of the most vicious and dangerous people on earth! Sorry, we cannot let that happen! A so, change the rules in the Senate and approve STRONG Border Security!”

Notice the supposed typo: !A

Now, compare that back to the updated tripcode that day, which started with !A as well. Was this a reference to Q’s proximity to Trump? Or was he simply coincidentally referencing something?

Firetruck Q74

Another supposed coincidence occurred when the President managed to negotiate a return of hostages that had been kept in North Korea. May 20, 2018, several of these hostages returned to the US from North Korea, and President Trump was there to greet them. In the background, there were two firetrucks aligned, holding up a massive American flag. However, one of the firetrucks that were visible outside of a window that Trump was by revealed that the firetruck was labeled with Q74.

At this same time, Q updated his tripcode again, and his posts began counting up once more. Each of his posts was labeled with several posts linked to that tripcode. It went from single digits to suddenly be in the 60s. They then went up over the next several days. Post 74, on May 10th, wrote:

“Fellow Patriots: What you are about to learn should not only scare you but intensify your resolve to take back control (Freedom). The information that will become public will further demonstrate the criminal & corrupt

[pure evil] abuse of power that the Hussein administration undertook in joint efforts w/ domestic and foreign dignitaries. The snowball has begun rolling – there is no stopping it now. D5. Stay the course and trust the plan. Protective measures are in place. Remain BRAVE. We knew this day would come. United We Stand (WW). WWG1WGA. We FIGHT. Conspiracy no more. Q”

Post number 75 wrote: “Castle LOCK Q” alongside a picture of the American flag with a file name of “Freedom.png”

A few days later, on May 14, 2018, Q wrote: “Image search for ‘fire truck/ engine.’ Letter common in front of #? Post 74 Coincidence? U.S. Flag [post] ‘Castle LOCK’ – pointed ref? Comms understood? Q”

Q intentionally drew attention back to that post and the firetruck that had been seen in the background. Some searching showed that the fire department at the air force base that Trump went to welcome back the hostages had the 74 team squad. All of the cards were marked with the number 74. One of the trucks was a quint fire truck—it had five pumps. Therefore, it would be labeled as Q74. However, it is entirely possible that the one involved with Q noted this and chose to intentionally utilize it with President Trump in the picture.

“Honk for Q”

Another supposed coincidence takes us to Kansas City, Missouri. Two people, in particular, chose to make contact with Q. On July 24, 2018, President Trump traveled to speak at a veteran’s convention. Knowing that he was traveling there and would be traveling via the interstate, two Kansas residents chose to ask for confirmation from Q. They designed a poster that said “Honk for Q MAGA” on the side of I-29. They Tweeted a picture to the potus_schedule account and the President’s own Twitter account, stating that they would be there and look at them, showing them the sign.

Though the potus_schedule account was not verified and has since been shut down by Twitter for unknown reasons, it does appear to be legitimate, having photos that imply close contact to President Trump, as well as pictures from within his motorcade. Additionally, Q has posted that particular account in the past in his drops, referencing them just a week before the visit to Kansas City.

In a video showing the motorcade with the sign being waved, you can see several SUVs and vans go by, and one of the last ones to pass actually honks four times. Additionally, as it passes, it honks the letter Q in Morse code. Then, on July 24, Q posts again, linking to a post on the subreddit, r/thegreatawakening, which has since been banned from the site that showed the video. On the post, Q wrote:

“We saw you! God bless Patriots! Q”

One week later, Q posted again on July 31, 2018, stating, “How often does the Presidential motorcade honk upon request?” while also linking to YouTube again. It is followed with the hashtags: #TryHarderMSM #AskTheQ

And “Tampa Rally looking great! WWGIWGA! Q”

The Veteran’s Convention and Sea to Shining Sea

At the very same veteran’s convention that President Trump’s motorcade had been traveling to and from with the Honk for Q sign, there was another key drop provided as well. On a post that Q made, he wrote, “From Sea to Shining Sea” just five minutes before President Trump took the stage. As he made his way onto the stage, he walked out to the song, God Bless the U.S.A. and as the line, “Across the plains of Texas, from sea to shining sea,” he cued that he was paying attention to the song, pointing and tapping on his ear, as if asking if those watching him were listening.

This happened just five minutes apart—Q would have had to know that was about to happen. This repeatedly occurs—there are several times in which Q says one thing, and President Trump then does something directly after that helps corroborate the relationship.

Additionally, the name of the veteran who spoke alongside President Trump was also suspicious. Alan Q. Jones was the speaker next to him. Note the middle initial.

Number 17

The number 17 seems to have some sort of relevance. A common use of code in Q’s posts involves the swapping of letters with their correlating numbers. So, A would be 1, B would be 2, and so on with Z being 26. What makes this number important, then is that the letter Q is the 17th letter in the alphabet. Even prior to President Trump being inaugurated, November 17, 2016, saw him being met by the NSA’s head, giving him heads up that President Obama had wiretapped his lines. Immediately after, his team was moved to New Jersey.

Additionally, Admiral Rogers, was the 17th director of the NSA. President Trump has also taken a 17-day break that he declared was not a vacation. He has also emphasized his first 17 months of administration instead of just waiting a month to create a clear 1.5 years; both of his posts were made on May 17th. In July of 2018, President Trump visited a factory and positioned the American flag carefully between bays 7 and 10, which obviously also add up to 17.

Of course, those examples could be written off as coincidence. However, on November 5, 2018, President Trump's campaign manager, Brad Parscale, invited Twitter people to talk directly to the president. He provided a phone number, as well as a passcode, which was 116234. Within 30 minutes of this being posted up, Q was at it again, posting a link to the Tweet and writing, "What # does the passcode add up to? For Anons... Q" Sure enough, the numbers add up to 17 when you take $1 + 1 + 6 + 2 + 3 + 4$.

In another speech given by President Trump, he speaks about how often he had been to Washington DC before being elected. His answer? "Seventeen times," which he reiterates, also stating that he never stayed the night. He says that four different times during the speech. Seventeen is a very specific number to pull off the top of one's head as well—who would remember that exactly? It appears to have some sort of significance—perhaps relating right back to Q being the 17th letter.

In another press conference, President Trump discusses #17. He discusses seeing a drop of almost 17% in a single year and then emphasizes that 17 is a real number. Additionally, Jon Bolton served as Trump's National Security Advisor for exactly 17 months.

Q has also marked Q day—the 17th day of the month any month. On January 7, 2018, President Trump tweeted that the Fake News Awards would occur on January 17th. March 17, 2019, saw Q post, "What day is today? How much more obvious can we make it? Q." On January 17, 2019, President Trump grounded Speaker Nancy Pelosi's plane as well. This happens again in November of 2019—on November 17th, Hillary Clinton's plane was also grounded, citing mechanical issues. However, in a previous drop by Q on October 29, 2017, he wrote, "Can you rely on being able to board a plane and fly away?" while also talking about both Nancy Pelosi and Hillary Clinton, as well as George Soros.

On March 17, 2019, President Trump retweeted something from a Q follower, judging by the icon they used—a Q wearing a “Bake America Great Again” hat. The significance of the hat is that the anons are said to bake bread from the crumbs that Q leaves behind. July 17 showed President Trump retweeting another person who had #WWG1WGA in their profile information. Robert Mueller’s probe also began on May 17, 2017. At this time, he hired 17 lawyers, and Mueller agreed to testify on July 17, 2019. This is repetitive, referencing the number 17 as well.

The President’s Direct Confirmations

The more that Q has gained momentum, the more blatant the proofs and confirmations have become as well. As President Trump entered a rally on June 20, 2018, he seemingly acknowledges a person wearing a shirt with Q on it, colored with the American flag. You can see this from a few different angles—you can see it from the angle of the recorders, as well as from the individual wearing the shirt. He directly points at the shirt as he goes by.

This goes a step further when, the next day, Q posts the video comparison showing both angles, along with writing:

“Jan 20, 2017. June 20, 2018. Exactly 17 months. Do you believe in coincidences? God bless you all. Q”

Does it get more obvious than that?

The same person who was acknowledged by the President now uses a picture of his shirt, along with a tag that states “VIP” on it, with the Twitter handle, “VIPAnon.” He also comes up again and again. Beyond that, you can see Trump pointing to and acknowledging so many Q signs. He has also drawn Qs in the air on film as well, which Q has acknowledged.

At one point, Q quotes a conversation that appears to be between Q and the President directly. It goes:

President Trump (assumed): “Did they get the shot? I pointed directly at it 3x. I turned and double pointed just to be clear. Did they pick up the ‘Boom, Boom, Boom.... Something is Happening’?”

Q (assumed): “Yes, Mr. President, Anons are actively tracking. Message received.”

President Trump: “Good, that’s good.”

While the drop from Q does not say who is in the actual post, you can read between the lines. The quoted text above is directly taken from the Nov 5, 2018 drop.

President Trump has also retweeted an article from MAGAPILL. The site had posted a long list of accomplishments that President Trump had gotten—and on that day, the website was featuring an article talking about QAnon on the home page.

There was another Twitter mistake during which President Trump appears to accidentally leave a ‘q’ at the end of a Tweet. Seventeen minutes later, the President retweeted that message, corrected to no longer have the lingering q at the end.

President Trump even tweets out things that Q has said. A common example of this is “Enjoy the show,” which Q repeatedly uses, referring to the idea that everything that is happening is scripted and going according to plan. Even President Trump has tweeted this, stating on June 15, 2019, on Twitter: “... In any event, enjoy the show!”

There is also the repetition of the expression, “These people are SICK!” as has been discussed in earlier chapters of this book. Q has repeated this over and over again. President Trump has used this line repeatedly as well in speeches and interviews. Most of the time, it appears that he uses it spontaneously, but there is an instance in which it appears that he reads it from his cue guide.

Now, several more proofs can be utilized to make it clear that Q is more than just a conspiracy theory or a LARP. There are many instances in which Q and the President post within seconds or minutes of each other. The odds of these sorts of interactions happening entirely by chance, according to many statisticians, are conclusively coordinated. Even Q comments on this, writing in a post on November 1, 2018:

“Mathematically impossible, or every detail planned?”

This is in reference to a post made by Q a year before President Trump using a line—they were exactly one year apart. Now, you might not be willing to admit that it is impossible for these to all be coincidental—but know that there are so many more examples as well, but if we wanted to go through them all, we would have an entire book of nothing but Q proofs. However, keep in mind that there can only be so many coincidences before you must start to consider whether they are intentional. You cannot say that this many instances, this many coincidences, is natural. It must be considered whether the Q proofs are a sign of a coordinated effort. All the signs are there. This is no coincidence.

Chapter 4

Who Is Q?

Now, with all of that information out of the way, it is time to consider who could potentially be Q. We do not yet know who it is—Q is still hidden away. However, people still try to figure out who he is. It could be one person or several people. There are theories that it may be a military operation, while others insist that it is Donald Trump himself. Others still say that it could be a team of people that work closely with Trump. No matter who it is, however, it is impossible to state that he is a lie. He exists, and he is out there—it is just a matter of time until his identity comes out. Of course, for now, he is keeping his identity under strict lock and key- it might be out eventually, but for now, we can only offer speculations to what we assume is the truth.

It can be hard to know who is who in a game where everyone is trying to remain anonymous, and yet make it clear that they have all sorts of insider information. This is next to impossible—if you see that there is this sort of insider info being leaked, you start to realize the specific circle that is likely in control of the situation. However, despite that, a handful of options could all serve to identify who Q is.

Donald Trump

A natural assumption, considering the cohesion with which Q and the President appear to post, is that he might be Q. After all, we have seen that President has drawn Q in the air and has acknowledged people holding up Q signs. Additionally, Q and President Trump use several phrases that are in common with each other. But, is that enough to assume that Trump and Q are the same people? The current theory is slightly different: Q is not Trump, but another poster, Q+ may be. Sometimes, Q's posts, linked by his tripcode, are signed with Q+ instead, implying that there have to be at least two people involved in acting as Q.

VIPAnon, the man mentioned in the previous chapter having been acknowledged by President Trump while wearing a shirt with Q on it, actually offers some insight into this. He posted on October 5, 2018, stating that he got to meet President Trump. He was given a VIP pass. At the rally and when talking to him, he wrote that he had a question: “Is Q real?” President Trump apparently answered, “I don’t know, maybe. I do know that they are great people!” He mentioned that he got a chance to take a picture with the President, but that the picture would be mailed from the White House.

His post on Twitter was then linked by Q, with Q writing:

“Important moment in time. The picture will be the signifier. The signifier will ‘force’ the Q. The Q will be answered (((WWG1WGA))). Q”

A few weeks later, VIPAnon posted online to let the world know that he received his photo with the President. On the back of the picture that he took, in black marker, it is signed: (((+)))

This is important—the key post from Q used the same brackets in response to VIPAnon’s previous post. It shows that the triple parentheses are used by Q. Additionally, just a little bit later, on November 4, 2018, Q posts with the tag: (((Q+))) included after WWG1WGA. Q seems to be more likely to not be Donald Trump himself, but it does appear that Trump must be closely related to him.

A Person or Team of People Close to Trump

Considering the lineup between what Q has said and what President Trump posts, it becomes obvious that there must be some connection. While President Trump may be Q+, it is important to look at the fact that they must be related. Q has posted photos that imply that he is in the same room as President Trump, or he has shown signs of being close to Trump just by virtue of what has been posted.

We’ve seen a whole long list so far of Trump posting something that Q echoes, or Q posts and Trump echoes. Q appears to be someone that has some degree of closeness with Trump and his administration. One point that this can be seen involves a post on January 5, 2019, depicting a clock that reveals that the time is 3:14. Then, on March 2, 2019, another post of a watch and pen were posted by Q, but this time, the clock read 3:42.

Not long after this point, on March 15, 2019, the POTUS_Schedule Twitter posted: “March 15, 2019: Declaration of a National Emergency on the Southern Border was authorized by US Attorney General William Barr in the Oval Office at 3:42 PM EST.”

Now, March 15 is 3/15. This echoes the clock showing 3:15 in the first Q post of a watch on January 5. Then, the second clock accurately showed the time of 3:42, which the POTUS_Schedule tweeted was the time at which President Trump declared a national emergency. This would have had to be planned starting months earlier—Q signaled that he understood what was happening.

Another sign that Q must be close to Trump occurred in December of 2018. One of the Trump hotels created a festive gingerbread elevator, complete with a fireplace with stockings hanging over it. There are a few things hidden in the video depicting the elevator. One such thing that Q particularly comments upon, after sharing the video, is “T & Q placed together. What a coincidence. The More You Know... Q”

Sure enough, the stockings are right next to each other. Shortly after that first post, Q writes, “How many names start w/ a ‘Q’? What are the odds of a ‘Q’ Stocking? What are the odds of a ‘Q’ stocking next to a ‘T’ stocking? How many stockings in total? How many letters used? Logical thinking. A little Holiday Fun for the FAKE NEWS media. Think ‘Elf on the Shelf.’ Can you find the next one? Q”

However, an anon pointed out that the Q stocking was not actually a Q—it was an O stocking that had a piece of red tape to create a Q. There are other interesting hints here in Trump’s hotel as well—Santa, in a picture on the wall, is holding onto a hammer. The painting of Santa is signed “QA” as well. Q has written about hammers before, potentially due to Q’s repeated references to hammers, likely to convey the image of a hammer of justice. Additionally, there is video footage of the bakers working on the elevator, with one of the bakers having a frog in their pocket. This is relevant—it is a reference to Pepe the Frog, a prominent meme on 4chan and 8chan.

A Military Intelligence Operation

According to Dr. Jerome Corsi, an investigative reporter, in 2015, he was approached by a group of generals who had said that the military had recruited President Trump to run for the 2016 Presidency. The point was to ensure that the Deep State officials were removed to clear out the government’s corruption. According to Corsi, QAnon is the same group of military officials as they act to remove and expose the corruption involved.

According to Corsi, on April 11, 2018, Q is working to clean up the government. Corsi discussed that they were trying to conduct a coup d’etat, and they then reconsidered because Trump had agreed to run for the presidency. They agreed that if they got Trump into office that they could conduct the coup legitimately by using the government to get the traitors out. QAnon, then, is the military intelligence that maintains that closeness to Trump. While Corsi never provided names or evidence toward this, it seems plausible to believe that QAnon and Trump are related. It appears that they are doing just that: Eliminating the government's corruption to clean up.

This is further supported by the fact that President Trump posted a picture of himself alongside 20 senior US military officials that had spent the previous night dining with him. Shortly after that photo, which would support President Trump's close contact with the military, Q supported this further, commenting upon that same photo in the Oval Office. Q wrote:

"Who is standing next to Pence & POTUS? Message? Bolton cleaning house. Out they go! A clean House is very important. Q"

Next to Pence and Trump is Admiral Michael Rogers, the head of the NSA. As you recall, he was the one who, under the Obama administration, went to Trump Tower on November 17, 2016, to inform President Trump of Obama's wiretapping.

Dan Scavino

Now, if President Trump is potentially Q+, Q would have to be someone else incredibly close to him. One such possibility appears to be his communications director, Dan Scavino. This is something that has been posited in the past—especially because he manages to stay out of the spotlight so much. If you were to ask most people who he is, most people would have no idea, but he plays a major role in most of Trump's communication. He is described by many in the White House as one of the most trusted advisers to Trump in the first place. He is described as being loyal and just and serving the president selflessly. He has always wanted to work harder, go further, and make sure that Trump can communicate clearly and effectively through social media channels.

He conveys President Trump's Twitter messages regularly—meaning that if Q is posting simultaneously, or at the very least, coordinating with the President for those messages to be posted, it begs the question that he must be involved to some degree. He could be Q himself or someone working very closely with Q. This is further exacerbated because, as he is described by people who are involved with the Trump administration, "Dan Scavino is a MAGA social media Swiss Army Knife. He operationalizes the president's voice and sharpens the message with great effectiveness and more than a dash of humor.” He is described as someone who is there for President Trump and can be depended upon. That is plenty of evidence to, at the very least, consider Scavino as either being Q himself or being a part of the Q team.

So, who is Q? Is he one person? More than one? We don’t know. What we do know, however, is that Q is out there, and his anonymity is what gives him his protection. The fact that we know nothing about his identity means that he can continue to act without worries about who will find him or what he is doing. His hidden nature is enough to protect him—to allow him to exist behind the scenes. Though we did not yet identify who he is, we know that it is for the best. We will know eventually, and when it happens, we will know that he was someone fighting for the United States. Whoever he is, he is a true patriot.

The Influence of QAnon

QAnon is far more widespread than just the US. This makes sense—if Q is attempting to wipe out a global operation that is designed to control the whole world, then it makes sense that, to some degree, its reach would extend worldwide as well. However, the bulk of QAnon followers are found in the US. Within this chapter, we will take the time to consider the different ways that Q has reached around the world. The posts have garnered followers around the world to varying degrees. While the bulk of supporters are found in the US, it is a worldwide phenomenon so far.

It is important to note that, though QAnon may get plenty of disservice and dissent from the people, it is there for a reason: To awaken the people of the world. It is there to encourage open-mindedness with skepticism. Q states that the US needs to recognize the horrific crimes that are occurring and who is running in the background to cause and create them, and Q leaves crumbs for people to follow. It is meant to help with the discovery of the deeper level of what is going on. Through this exploration, it is possible to begin seeing the truth: That there are serious crimes against humanity happening right under our noses.

Q is quick to state, “We have it all.” It appears that this is in relation to being in control of the NSA and that these communications will be utilized in the future when trails become required. Further, there have been arrests that Q has seemed to reference, surrounding the problems that Q has mentioned. In particular, there have been crimes against humanity—through child trafficking and pedophilia.

Q and the United States

In the United States, Q is ubiquitous with the far-right movement. He is associated with being someone that is working hard to ensure that the people know what is happening. He has, according to many, been involved all around. He was identified as being relevant to the US elections, both in 2016 and 2020. His reach can be found all over the place. Think of many of the Q proofs that we have talked about—they all referred to the different ways you could find Q in different aspects of life. You could find him working hard, being identified as someone trying to ensure that justice is served, but that cannot be guaranteed if he is not the one that gets into office.

People across the world have been growing more and more desperate to understand Q. Many are even identifying with him, accepting that he is right and that his world, the one in which the cabal running the world is dismantled, is the right one. However, there are just as many people who are misinformed about Q.

Q has become someone that people either revere or they hate. He is someone that may be helpful to those involved but is also a scapegoat. Q is used by the left as an unhinged scapegoat to get anyone who tries to follow it to show that they are problematic. Q is written off as someone that is going to be making it a point to lying for his selfish purposes when the truth is, he is trying to save the whole world. Though he is scapegoated as having a following of fanatics that want nothing more than to destroy the world and watch it burn, the truth is that he is trying to prevent exactly that.

Think of several of the more radicalized people that have been involved in the rallying and rioting of 2020. 2020 has seen many states, mostly left-leaning, demolished by riots and protests that the left is quick to say is nothing but peaceful. But the truth is that peacefulness is not there. The dissent is quickly pushed onto Q, leading to that declaration that Q is terroristic in nature, which is the basis that was used to remove all group mentions of him across the country. If you try to post about Q online, you may see your information removed.

Q can be seen around the world. At just about any Trump rally, you can see people dressed up, wearing Q clothing in supposed camaraderie. You can see people who want nothing more than to be true patriots, supporting the country's success. They are pushed, fueled by that drive to understand that they are doing the right thing. They are driven by their desire to ensure that they are on the right track with the world around them. They are truth-seekers, people who want to expose the world. And think about it—if there weren't some truth to everything, why would the left be so adamant about completely destroying them? Why would the left believe that they needed to suppress the information as much as possible? There are other, much more violent groups out there, and yet they are quickly deemed to be nothing but peaceful protests.

Q, though rapidly growing its following, is being suppressed, little by little. The places where Q users gather is quickly becoming censored. One of the only real options people have these days is getting information from 4chan and 8chan. The posts are there, and people are quickly losing their places to discuss Q and what he is doing. Notably, however, though President Trump does not claim involvement with Q, nor does he directly come out and say he approves of them, he has mentioned on more than one occasion that they cannot be all bad because they stand for these good, beneficial things. Can anyone really claim that they are entirely against seeing pedophilic Satanists arrested and punished? Is it such a bad thing to declare war against these people that will cause problems? The left wants people to think that way.

Q and Australia

Despite being US-oriented, Q has actually gathered many QAnon supporters worldwide, including the world down under. Yes, Australians are beginning to pick up on the QAnon movement and embrace it. Globally, QAnon has become something that shows that the whole world is in on these big changes that are being made. There are many conspiracy theories, ranging from the fact that Q is trying to oust Democrats around the world to state that the governments are putting up 5G towers during the lockdown. However, at the heart of it all is the desire that Q has to push understanding and enlightenment.

In Australia, Q has gained a following just because he encourages others to look for evidence. He pushes for enlightenment for wanting to understand what is happening in the world. He pushes people to look past the coincidences because there are only so many that are possible before what is happening must be accepted as fabricated. There are a few particular aspects that Australians have latched onto that they use to push them toward further radicalization.

1. Conspiracies about one government: One such way that Q has swayed Australia's citizens is through this idea that the world itself is controlled by one group of elites. In 1992, Australian Senator Malcolm Roberts pushed this idea that the UN's Agenda 21 plan that was designed to be sustainably developed, was problematic, removing the idea of sovereignty from the people. However, according to Q and followers in Australia, this was nothing more than a blueprint used to create utter corruption.
2. Perceiving that pedophiles control the government: We know that our children are our lives. Many people would unapologetically kill someone that they caught touching their children without a second thought in mind. The general public is disgusted by this notion that the government may be ruled by people that want to harm children. However, when you have pictures such as Joe Biden sniffing or touching a wide range of children with the children looking uncomfortable at his touch, you have to start wondering—is there truth to this? In their pictures with children, how many celebrities show strange placements of hands, usually with the children looking incredibly uncomfortable? If these cabals of pedophiles run the government, then wouldn't it be our duty to tear them down to protect and save our children?

3. Unaccountable and incompetent governments: lately, we've seen a wide stream of governmental authorities that appear to be entirely incompetent. They struggle to get anything done. They flounder. It builds distrust from the people—they don't want to elect someone that they cannot trust to have their best interests in mind, and that's a problem—if you cannot ensure that the government can be trusted, what do you have left? QAnon then gets a larger following just because there are so many people driven by him. There are so many people out there, demanding more and demanding that people start to show that they are more competent. We have started to have accountability, which we have not seen much of in the government's recent past. It is something that must be repaired if we want any semblance of normalcy.
4. Alternative health lobbies: In Australia, in particular, there has been such a big push to get away from big pharma that this idea that they ought to distrust their government and look for the patterns or things that would naturally discredit the idea of big pharma. Due to the large anti-vax movement, the desire for alternative health, and more, the idea of this group that states that they ought to be more mindful of what they inject into their bodies becomes absolutely necessary. It becomes something that must be appreciated and respected. They love the idea that they have a whole following, this whole theory that the government is trying to control people through a vaccine, something supported when you consider the vaccine programs in Africa that left women sterile after receiving vaccinations.

5. Feeling like COVID-19 was weaponized: A common debate that is found among Q's posts and crumbs is the idea that COVID-19 is not nearly as big of a deal as the world has made it out to be. In this idea, the virus itself is not very harmful, and the death rates are much lower than what is being reported. This idea that the whole world is lying for the "plandemic" means that there would be a lot of people falling under governmental control that shouldn't have.

Understanding Q Followers Around the World

No matter their location, however, the Q followers share a few things in common. Through certain traits, beliefs, and tendencies, you can begin to understand who is interested in Q. Understanding this sort of target demographic allows you to recognize the truth. Most Q followers will hit very specific demographics:

1. They are unhappy. Many of those following Q are unhappy with the current state of things and need to go against them. Think of, for example, the state of those who are angry or frustrated with the pandemic. Think of those who are unwilling to continue without standing up and fighting back. They are unhappy with the government, and having a way to put what they dislike into words gives them an outlet that they can use to make sure that they do understand what is going on and how they are talking. There are several governmental grievances, and when they start becoming revealed or questioned by Q, people naturally take notice.
2. They have the right social circles. Many of Q's followers tend to run in the same circles. This is even truer now that we've got the internet that makes connecting with other people that share beliefs with you a breeze. If you want to talk to people with your belief system, all you need to do is a quick Google search, and you should find someone that will match up with your beliefs. This means that it becomes easier for you to get along with those around you and make it easier to surround yourself with people with those same thoughts.
3. Political and religious positions line up with Q's insistence. Q has, on more than one occasion, stated, "God Bless America." This idea of bringing conservative politics and religion back to the government is appealing, no matter where in the world that you may live, and the sooner that you can accept this movement and attempt to understand the world, the better.

Chapter 6

Mainstream Response to QAnon

If you've watched the news in recent days, you know that there is a massive, wide-scale attempt to slander Q and the followers of Q. QAnon has become ubiquitous with domestic terrorism in the United States, something that it was not before. A quick search shows a wide range of news articles that serve one key role: discourage people from paying attention to or following QAnon information. Think about it— headlines such as “The QAnon Conspiracy” or “QAnon: A Threat to Democracy and Rationality” are all over the internet. There are a million posts just like it, stating that QAnon followers are nothing more than fringe theorists following the next big conspiracy. They are lumped with the likes of people who think that lizard people or anti-vaxers run the government in an attempt to discredit them. However, this is intentional.

Consider this for a moment: When QAnon first began to gain traction, the response was largely to ignore it—the people left it alone and did not even bother with giving it the validation that they probably should have. Over time, that came, little by little. Slowly but surely, however, QAnon gained more followers. The government and media went from ignoring it to stating that it is nothing but LARPing. LARP, standing for Live Action Role Play, describes a type of roleplay in which people act out, in person, a situation. Think of how you can have all sorts of other roleplays, such as Dungeons and Dragons or other such ways that you create a character that you take on a journey with other people. QAnon has been reduced to that as well—a group of bored people that have nothing better to do than cause all sorts of problems all around them. Fair? Not really—but it is happening everywhere. QAnon is referred to as this sort of fiction, not much different from children's attempts to play pretend as they go through their days.

However, as time went by, and as Q gained more and more followers, something became very clear: this very real movement must be stopped. The mainstream media controls everything, all wrapped up in a nice, neat package controlled by the same people controlling the government. Fair? Not particularly. It eliminates this idea of freedom of speech. The government has had no qualms about taking control, making it a point to take control and attempt to completely silence this movement.

However, this attempt to utterly silence QAnon begs one question: Is it possible that there is truth to it? Is it possible that really, the idea that QAnon must be defeated or silenced because there is the truth behind it? Why else would they be so desperate to shut it down? There have been all sorts of theories in the past about government officials—what makes this one so inherently threatening that the idea of freedom of speech must be thrown out the window? Especially in light of high ranking Republican officials wholeheartedly embracing QAnon, or with President Trump's constant encouragement toward it, is it possible that the real problem here is not that the writing itself is problematic, but rather that it is revealing a truth that they did not want out in the first place? They tried the initial tactic of ignoring it and letting it run its course, not unlike what is commonly done for those who go about claiming that aliens have abducted them.

However, there are some things that the government has seemed utterly keen on blocking recently. This is for one reason: if the people know the truth and reach that enlightenment that Q is pushing for, there is a complete upheaval. There will be a complete lack of ability to control anything. If Q is correct and if everyone learns it, the Left loses their power. They rely on this idea that the people defend them, that they are just and fair, to help themselves. Once that image is removed and seen for what they are, they lose everything. Of course, that is not something that they want—they want to maintain their control, which requires them to maintain that image of themselves as the righteous group.

However, because the mainstream media is primarily controlled by those in charge of the powers that be, it becomes important to understand that the narrative will support what they want. If they know that they will be deemed a threat, they need to change up what they say to other people. They will need to find a way to begin to clarify how they feel or what they are doing with others—they do this because they want to be able to control the narrative to match what they need. If they know that the people would riot if they knew the truth, of course, they will try to suppress Q and the general consensus that Q has. After all, don't forget, "These people are sick." As Q, and President Trump, have reminded us repeatedly, these people cannot be trusted. They will subvert the truth. They will rewrite anything they need to have the final say and that their word is what comes out on top.

As you go through this chapter, you will start to see just a few of the multitude of ways that Q has been disregarded or even misconstrued over the months that he has been there, trying to bring clarity to a world shrouded in misinformation. Remember, there are no coincidences here, and mainstream media wants to do nothing but provide the world with a very specific viewpoint that will be used to completely and utterly blindsides the world. Learn to think. Follow the white rabbit. Pay attention to the changes that need to be made. You can become the change that you want in the world.

Reddit Banning QAnon Subreddits

Reddit is a popular source of interaction on the internet. It is described as a “community-determined aggregator of content.” On Reddit, people are allowed to post information, and the most popular information is upvoted—it is brought to the top of the page. This means that everything is actively being ranked in real-time and anything that you see toward the top of a Reddit board is the most popular opinion at that point in time. Those who agree can vote it higher, and those who disagree can push it further down. The more popular the opinion, the more those around you will see it.

There are Reddit boards for just about every subject, filled up with people that want to talk about what is going on. There were several dedicated to QAnon theory as well, filled up with people who were following Q and trying to figure out the puzzles and end game that he followed. However, that all changed in relatively recent history. In September of 2020, the popular board on Reddit that housed the largest group of QAnon followers, /r/GreatAwakening, was banned. Reddit cites its decision to remove the subreddit because it violated the site’s policies on content. They claimed that posting things that would incite violence, disseminate personal information, or harasses others will cause the community to be banned.

The subreddit was quite popular, with 71,000 subscribers and over 10,000 comments per day. Many people would come to speak to other Q followers, and supposedly, the threats were enough to cause problems, despite the constant urging of moderators to cease them. It is unknown whether there was a specific incident that caused this problem—just that it became clear that there were problems. However, other subreddits completely independent of that one were also banned from the site.

Reddit went out of its way to block the ability of these people to interact. Why? What is their end game? There is a very good chance that the real reason that they have refused to allow this communication is due to fear. They do not want the truth to come out. Really, the few control the many—there is a wide range of people out there that are entirely controlled by just a few groups of people hungry to control the world. The idea is to create one group that can manage and control everything, and when that happens, they need to have ways to do so. They must have a way that they can control the language and the media that goes out. This means silencing those that speak up.

Though we are in a society that claims to be liberal, we reach a boiling point at some point. Think about it—you can have tolerance, but there is still a line drawn: We become intolerant of intolerance. This means that we must all think the same way, and if we do not, then we are a threat. Our society does not tolerate different ways of thinking, although they are so quick to call for freedom of speech. It is a matter of tolerance, eventually reaching a point where it is a problem. True tolerance would allow for speaking ill about others simply because you would be tolerant of freedom. However, we now state that to speak out against someone else is to threaten them. It is a threat to these in the media to have their information leaked out, especially when you consider that the media is terrified of having that information go out. Remember, Q asserts that those in charge, the powers that be, are sick. They are kidnapping and harvesting blood from children. They are engaging in all sorts of blood rituals, according to Q. They are being exposed one at a time. Epstein? He was targeted by Q, and he is now dead after being convicted of the very crimes that Q asserts that the others are committing.

By blocking posts about Q on Reddit, the narrative becomes controlled. That is one less place where people can speak about Q and figure out what is happening. However, this goes further, as well. In blocking Q-related information on Reddit, they also opened the door for the news to start reporting about it. The news started mentioning that Reddit was banning QAnon and QAnon related groups' discussion due to inciting violence. What kind of image does that portray to everyone else that may not know what QAnon is? They now believe that QAnon is some sort of alt-right terrorist group that wants to go around hurting everyone who doesn't have their same beliefs in mind. But, that's a major problem. Now, Q becomes some sort of scary theory that needs to be ignored and disregarded.

Now, Q becomes something that the average person, who may not have done any research, believes is a threat. They believe that their thoughts are wrong. To be "red-pilled," to them, becomes a problem. It becomes some sort of sickness, almost—a cult in which people are being brainwashed to believe in these strange, off the wall theories, when if you look closely at them and take the time to really study it, you begin to see that it is quite practically possible to be true. There may be more truth to it than meets the eye, but those who believe that Q is ubiquitous with domestic terrorism are going to refuse to ever look at it for fear of being deemed one of the enemies.

Facebook and Instagram Removing QAnon Posts and Groups

Before Reddit blocking QAnon-related subreddits, however, Facebook locked down. In August of 2020, Facebook announced that they would be restricting the posts related to QAnon and that it will no longer allow for algorithms to ask people to join these groups, though Q was not banned entirely. However, it also banned several groups and accounts that were directly linked to QAnon theories. QAnon groups grew like wildfire across social media, and because social media allows for like-minded people to communicate quickly and easily, it was to blame for much of the rapid spread of the theory. Of course, Facebook couldn't be caught as one of the groups allowing for its spread.

According to Facebook, at the time of targeting Q, they removed 790 QAnon groups, alongside 100 pages, and over 1500 ads directly related to Qanon. Additionally, there were restrictions made on almost 2000 other groups, along with nearly 450 pages on the site.

Instagram saw similar movements. Purchased by Facebook in 2012, Instagram started cutting down similarly. There were, in total, over 10,000 accounts on Instagram that were impacted by the removal of Q-related media. At the same time, Facebook announced that it had done so because these pages were linked to militia organizations and encouraging riots. Further, however, Facebook states that some of those riots may include people that identify as Antifa. However, note the problem there—QAnon and Antifa would be considered polar opposites. Antifa is the militant left anarchist movement that is, according to some, attempting to burn the country to the ground.

Now, Q has posted about Antifa in the past. They have mentioned the actions of Antifa in being related to the democrats. Q has said that the purpose of Antifa is an attempt to push toward radical socialism. Antifa is supported by the democrats, according to Q, due to the non-prosecution of the rioters that identify specifically as Antifa in the first place. It becomes a major problem. The fact that Facebook would cite that they were cracking down on Q groups to prevent Antifa rioting is sort of skirting around this issue—anyone who knows anything about Q would know that he is not Antifa.

Twitter Removing QAnon Accounts

In July of 2020, Twitter announced that it had removed over 7000 accounts that they associated with the idea of QAnon theory. They also stated that they would ban the use of Twitter to discuss QAnon in the first place. It is banned from trending on Twitter, and it is also banned from sharing it as well. According to Twitter, this could impact over 150,000 accounts on Twitter, blocking out the pro-Trump theory.

According to Twitter, this was done to keep content that would harm the internet. This deliberate censorship is because Twitter believes that the accounts being banned are harmful. They believe that the accounts that they are trying to silence will cause harm somewhere. However, this has simply led to massive silencing and censorship across the internet.

Up until recently, Twitter allowed, to some degree, mentions of QAnon related content. However, as of September 17, 2020, Twitter took it further. At this point, it has been stated that even political candidates and elected officials will be silenced if they are sharing QAnon-related information. This is relevant—up until this point, President Trump was using Twitter as a source of public communication. Though Twitter has painted a campaign against Trump, labeling him as violating their terms and conditions on more than one occasion, Twitter has allowed his posts to stay up under the pretense of public interest, dictating that it should be kept up. Posts that have mentioned getting riots under control before he sends in federal officers are met with warnings that his Tweets have violated rules about glorifying violence. Will President Trump's tweets, which have often hinted at Q, be silenced? Only time will tell, but there is a good chance that it could happen.

Google's Censorship of Searches

Though we often turn to Google when we need to search for something, to the point that we now use the word as a colloquial word meaning to search for something online, Google is not actually a very reliable source. Through a series of algorithms, Google can bury information that is sought out with ease. It becomes a child's play for them to change up what is pushed to the charts' top.

Try it yourself—if you were to search for Qanon information, even if you have all of the right questions, and even if you phrase them the right way, you are likely to run into problems. You are likely to find that you cannot properly get your search to go through simply because Qanon has been buried underneath the internet. If you were to Google it, you would find pages upon pages of your search being censored. Are you looking for a place to find the latest posts by Q? You will most likely be inundated with information about how QAnon is the latest fringe conspiracy to destroy humanity. This is problematic—it means that no matter how hard you try to get everything yourself, you will be buried. You have to know where to go, or you are not going to get it.

Think about what this means for people who may not yet know much about Q. They will search for information only to find that it has all been buried. They will attempt to figure out whether it is reliable, but every single source on the first few pages will do nothing but show up all of the ways that the theory has supposedly been debunked. If you want a page with information that could be taken to be a positive assessment of Q, you will not find it. If you want a page that will show you something reminiscent of the truth, it will not be there. Again, look to who owns the media. Look at who owns the bulk of social media as well. There are not many people. It appears that there are primarily six people who own the bulk of all media that you may consume.

Google also owns YouTube, another site that has quickly tried to cut down on the amount of QAnon related material posted. Of course, many videos simply make it through anyway. However, if you search for QAnon on YouTube, you are immediately taken to the group's Wikipedia page, which quickly disregards the theory as being false. It is said to be entirely made up, a conspiracy theory that ought to not be listened to. From there, you can see several mainstream media accounts of QAnon. Some videos discuss the importance of looking at the information being false. The first page is very quick to demark QAnon as being nothing but nonsense that ought to be ignored, but that is hardly a fair assumption. They quickly cite their reasons for discrediting it and call it good, claiming the absurdity argument. Even Presidential Candidate Joe Biden can be seen claiming that those who follow QAnon need mental health help.

The truth is, Google and YouTube are just as eager to keep down the information as the other groups. This means that they will naturally push down the information that will provide anything of use to those who want to know what is happening or who may not yet understand completely the implications of Qanon and what it is.

TikTok Banning QAnon

In July of 2020, TikTok joined alongside Facebook, Twitter, and Reddit to restrict QAnon material creation. However, TikTok simply blocked the hashtags related to QAnon from use—the material itself was not removed. While not as harsh as censorship of the others, it is still important to acknowledge. Their videos remained in place, with many of them providing information about what QAnon is.

Removal of Qmap.pub and the Cancel Culture of Qmap.pub Writer

Qmap.pub was a site that was used to collect all of Q's posts in one place. It included a vast amount of information about what would be needed to understand everything that Q was saying. There was a database of all posts, infographics, and summaries about the individual people cited at any point in time. It was a site that was full of all sorts of information that would help even a novice learn everything they would need to know. However, upon identifying the developer, the site was shut down. Qmap.pub was run by a New Jersey man who went by QAppAnon online up until his identity was leaked for everyone to see. He archived all of QAnon's posts, up until Logically.ai identified him as Jason Gelinis on September 10, 2020. He was deemed the "developer and mouthpiece" of the site, and upon that, New Jersey records were able to connect QAppAnon to his home address.

However, when he commented upon it, he stated that he would neither confirm nor deny the truth. He stated that he wanted to stay out of everything. The extent of what he said was that QAnon was a "Patriotic movement to save the country." However, he did not elaborate beyond that, and without much of a trace, Qmap.pub has been shut down. In its place are three links to alternative sources for material that has been provided in case people still want to seek out the truth around them.

According to people who wanted to identify him further, his LinkedIn profile stated that he was an information security analyst for Citigroup, who stayed out of it. However, as of recently, Citigroup has put him on paid leave while he is formally investigated. This is because, according to Citigroup, he was making money outside of Citigroup, and they required all employees to disclose and get approval for outside business activity. However, Gelinas did not do this—he ran Qmap.pub on his own. He was making at least $3000 per month on Patreon through crowd-funding to help cover the month's operating costs. The site was highly popular, with over 10 million visitors in July. It provided a great option for people who did not want to sift through all of the content on 4chan and 8chan that many would consider evil. Instead, they worked hard to ensure that they were on the right track.

Q and the New World Order

The New World Order troops are stepping back all over the globe. The working classes are demanding the end of their nation-destroying powers, as we observed, from Brexit in the United Kingdom, all the way to the populist governments in Eastern Europe (Hungary and Poland) to Salvini in Italy and the Yellow Vest movement in France. The elites who have allowed unassimilable immigrants from North Africa and the Middle East to invade their countries and sold their sovereignty to the European Union's immoral bureaucrats. They have lived the globalists' unfulfilled promises, that surrendering national sovereignty and taking jobs abroad would result in an unprecedented new era of prosperity and peace. Instead, as easy it was to predict, exactly the opposite has occurred. The globalist approach has led to an immigration crisis all over Europe, to $7 trillion of useless wars in the Middle East, to the immense loss of jobs and declining living standards.

Donald J. Trump has appeared in the United States as the most determined enemy of the New World Order through his good fight for the American people, our constitutional rights and liberties and the sovereignty of our nation.

The political establishment started to attack President Donald Trump even before he was elected with unparalleled violence throughout history. The frenzy, savagery, and outright hysteria demonstrated by President Trump's enemies within the media, the Democrat Party, and the other power centers of the globalist elites are never seen before. Our President has been subjected to fake foreign dossiers, has been insulted, spied on, lied about, ridiculed and threatened.

President Trump symbolizes the most serious threat to the existence of the New World Order itself. He can't be bought and has no price, unlike other Republican presidents of the recent past. He has never given up in the past, and he will never surrender in the future.

The Holy Bible Prophecy

Revelation 13:7-8 states: “And authority was given it over every tribe and people and language and nation, and all who dwell on earth will worship it, everyone whose name has not been written before the foundation of the world in the book of life of the Lamb who was slain.” This is part of the prediction of the Antichrist. The Antichrist, according to Christianity, is a person that is prophesized to substitute himself for Christ himself. He is the one “who denies the Father and the Son.” He is believed to be someone who will be the downfall of Christ before the Second Coming, at which point Jesus Christ is expected to return to Earth.

In this passage, you see the idea of a government—you see the idea of something that is overarching around the world. It rules every single person, given authority. We give our government authority to govern us—they cannot govern the people without the people’s consent. Without the consent of the people, there is no government—only dictatorship and violence. That government will be able to rule everyone on earth, with everyone trusting in it.

From a biblical perspective, this can be seen as a reference to what we refer to as the new World order—a term drawn from a book of the same title by Frederick Hicks in 1920. In this book, the premise of global power or governmental entity is used. Since then, this phrase has been commonly used. Through the passage listed above, along with others, it is believed that there will be a world leader during the tribulation period, estimated to last seven years. He will require worship and will ask for the beast’s mark to buy or sell, and he will directly punish and persecute those who believe in Jesus.

Now, think about this for a moment: the government, in recent days, have discussed the idea of having a digital chip implanted into people to allow for digital currency to be shared immediately. The chip would be your identity: it would hold all of your information about you within it and could not be easily stolen. It would also serve as a bank card for digital currency. In doing this, you would no longer have to deal with banks: everyone would have the one digital source for their money to be tracked. Everyone would have their IDs on them without having to do anything. This idea was pushed—the idea is that microchips would be implanted into the body.

Now, there are currently states around the US that have outlawed this idea of forcibly implanting people. According to several states, people can get them if they want—but they cannot be required by law. However, several other people push for this—they state that it would be a great way to allow for convenience in the palm of your hand—literally, in some cases where people would have the chip implanted in the hand. Then, all you would need to do is simply scan your hand and be done with it. Could this be the mark of the beast? Many believe that it may be.

Beyond that, there is a look at other global groups. We have the United Nations and the World Bank, though they currently lack the gravity or reach that the New World Order is stated to achieve. However, that does not mean that there will not be a cohesive one-world government in the future if the powers that be are given free rein.

Q and the NWO

Q has posted time and again about the New World Order, often using the acronym, NWO. A post on November 12, 2017, saw Q writing:

“What if China, Russia, and others are coordinating w/ POTUS to eliminate the NWO?”

Is it possible that other players are working to overthrow whatever the far left is trying to create? Q thinks so. Further, Q also references, nearly a year later, that:

“We are going to show you a new world. Those who are blind will soon see the light. A beautiful, brave new world lies ahead.”

April 6, 2018, sees Q post:

“Your trust & faith in us is enough. You elected us to do the heavy lifting. Enjoy the show. BIRTH of a NEW NATION. NEW WORLD. Q”

Q clearly wants to tell us something—but he is not the one pushing the New World Order.

When you take this information along with the fact that Q has been pushing, time and again, that they will be taken out, it is easily inferred that there is some degree of connection here. Q wants to eliminate the New World Order. He wants to ensure that the government of the United States is just. One of the most common assertions is that the truth is hidden and obscured. The mainstream media controls what you know because the mainstream media is under the control of the government's people. The mainstream media is said to sway what the people think and feel. Think back to being in school. If you happened to go to school during the time of the internet, you were probably told to check your sources and make sure that they were reliable. Under that premise, you would quickly disregard QAnon almost immediately because all of those sources you were taught are reliable news sources, such as the New York Times, the Washington Post, and the like, are all controlled by the government.

If you pay attention to the news and the world around you, you can quickly see that information is very clearly framed in a way that twists the story. How often do you see the news that disparages President Trump? However, frequently, you need to read deeper. You need to pay attention closer. There was a recent story in September of 2020 in which President Trump was speaking. He was attempting to answer a woman's question. The news frames it as if Trump interrupted her, and she told him off for it. However, if you watch the clip for yourself, you see the woman, Ellesia Blaque, hesitating in the middle of the question. She asks, "Should preexisting conditions, which Obamacare brought into fruition, be removed?" She hesitates after the word removed, at which point, President waits for a second before answering, "No." However, she then tells him to stop and let her finish her question. If you were to watch the video, you would assume that she was done with the question as well. Again, this twisted what happened.

The media is biased, and there is no way around it. Whistleblowers have even come out, asserting that there are these instances in which people are being told to suppress the news. One such proof of this goes back to a leak by Amy Robach, an ABC News anchor. She stated that she had been following the story of Jeffrey Epstein. She had an interview with Virginia Roberts Giuffre, and ABC told her to silence it. In a video, she asserts, "I've had the story [Epstein] for three years. We would not put it on the air. Um, first of all, I was told, 'Who was Jeffrey Epstein? No one knows who that is. This is a stupid story.' Then the palace found out that we had her whole allegations about Prince Andrew and threatened us a million different ways." During the interview, she asserted that Giuffre also implied that others were involved, along with Bill Clinton, Alan Dershowitz, and Ghislaine Maxwell.

Now, Epstein was eventually convicted as a sex offender when it was proven that he had been trafficking women and young girls to be abused by himself and several of his personal circle. Officials had identified up to 36 girls, with some as young as 14 that has been trafficked by him. He eventually was found dead in his jail cell on August 10, 2019, and his death was ruled a suicide by hanging.

More recently, Ghislaine Maxwell, an ex of Epstein's who maintained close contact with him after the dissolution of their relationship, has been arrested as well. She is currently under arrest and 24-hour video surveillance in the Metropolitan Detention Center in New York. She was arrested under charges of grooming and abusing underage girls alongside Epstein.

According to Robach, however, their story was kept silent. She followed for years until it came out that her research and investigations were actually spot on. This is just one example of the media attempting to silence those involved to protect those that are in control. The media is designed to make sure that there is no way for people to see the truth.

According to Trump during on speech, “We really have to bypass the media because it is so one-sided and unfair, to get straight to the American people, that’s what we’re doing.” This corroborates with what Q has said—he has left his crumbs saying things such as:

“The message must be direct (bypass the non-reporting of the TRUTH (facts) by FAKE ‘spin the narrative’ NEWS). Q”

Think about the implication here. The implication is that not even the President of the United States can make sure that his ideas are allowed to be put straight out for the people to hear. The President feels the need to directly speak to the people through other methods, such as utilizing the backdoor methods to inform the citizens of the United States what is going on, and we have no choice but to make sure that those messages are passed on for everyone to understand and hear. This is what Q is there for—he wants everyone to get those messages as intended from President Trump. He wants to make sure that the truth comes out, rather than the mangled narrative pushed by the mainstream media.

Of course, as we have discussed before, even social media is censoring the President. Even all of the social media out there will make it a point to ensure that Q is suppressed. But, what are they afraid of? What is it that they could possibly be trying to hide and suppress if all Q is supposed to be a LARP or a bunch of people lying to spin up conspiracy theories? We see that there is not much of an answer—if it is just a conspiracy theory, why is this one, in particular, being censored so much? If it is just a conspiracy theory, why does it matter to have this one suppressed? There has to be some truth there. And the truth is, the New World Order is being threatened.

It is time to start identifying the truth. It is time to start accepting that there is more to this all. We must see the New World Order for what it is—it is there with a totalitarian government plan to form. Think about it: we’ve seen these on smaller scales. We’ve seen, for example, the European Union.

They are there, designed to create a position in which Europe is controlled by a bureaucracy that was not elected. The idea is to expand this further, allowing the entire world to eventually come under control. Three major nations are still left out: China, Russia, and the USA. China and Russia work together—and the United States is left on its own. The US works to be its own entity, yet the New World Order has targeted it.

Our nation is under attack. Our nation is being subverted from the bottom up. We are seeing these changes designed to further influence the people—we are watching them take over little by little. There is a system that the media is working with so that the people can begin making changes. The left is looking to create civil unrest, paid for and funded by the Deep State. This is what President Trump is trying to stop.

The New World Order is training the people to hate the United States. We are being taught and told that the United States is an inherently racist nation. We are being told that the US is a nation that hurts other people and must be overthrown. However, this is all planned. It is all organized and funded. These groups, Antifa and the like, are being funded. They are trying to burn the country to the ground, and if left to their own devices, they may do so.

The Deep State and the New World Order is trying to push for the destruction of the nation. When the nation falls, then the Deep State can bring in this New World Order. It will require the destruction of the nation as a whole, a total revolution and collapse, for the nation to be taken up underneath the New World order, and if this happens, then the Deep State has won.

Q's End Game

Now, at this point, we've made our way through most of the pertinent information to get a foundation of what is happening. Now that you understand what Q is out there for, you can start to recognize what his end game is. Q is not there to subvert the government, nor is he looking to destroy the world. He is there because he wants to ensure that the general populous is informed, prepared, and ready to go.

It is time for you to take the blinders off. It is time for you to see that the world is not what you may have thought it was and has not been for a long time. It is time to recognize the truth: the government is currently corrupted, and it is up to Q, the patriots, and President Trump to take care of cleaning up. You cannot have a corrupt government if you want to have a successful country, and Q knows this. Q knows that the corruption is there, real, and present solely, so those in charge, those powers that be, will be in control. They believe that they can simply run the world without having to do anything. They believe that ultimately the average person exists solely to serve them, and they will do whatever they can to dismantle the government.

Isn't it strange that the people have been told to hate the United States in the last several years? Is it not strange that people are being told that the United States is founded upon racism and that it must be completely dismantled? The vast majority of the world countries have utilized slavery at one point in time, yet we do not consider those other ones to be racist. The United States is being taught to cannibalize itself so that it can be torn down. Through destroying the mindset of the general population, the Deep State can take control.

While this book is wrapping up and coming to a close, you should stop and consider what is happening around you. You need to remember that you must keep your eyes open. You must make it a point to acknowledge that the government is not doing its sacred duty of ensuring that the people are cared for. Rather, it is attempting to destroy them. Identity politics are in full swing. The dissolution of the community is in full swing. The idea of an open border is being pushed heavily while also encouraging US citizens not to reproduce. The government is encouraging these actions, but the end result will be a complete destruction of everything we have ever known. The world underneath the New World Order is one in which there are no borders. There are no divides between people. Money is disseminated without creating unfair divides. It might sound like paradise, but the truth is, the powers that be are pushing for the utter destruction of everything that makes the US what it is. They are seeking a global totalitarian government in which they decide everything.

Within this chapter, we are going to discuss Q's end game. We will go over what he is trying to set up and why it matters so much to consider. Remember, we all have our parts to play. We all have roles that we must follow to ensure that they do not win. It is our jobs, as patriots, to ensure that the people know what is happening and that they see the truth. We can prevent the Deep State from winning, but we are fighting an uphill battle now, and it will take plenty of time to bring its destruction to fruition. However, remember that as Q has said:

"Together, we will win. WWGIWGA!!! Q"

Q's Great Awakening

Understanding what is happening in the world around you is a valuable skill—and one that all too many people completely lack. However, if you know what you are doing and are made aware of the truth and what you need, you can recognize how to use it. We know that discernment, being willing and able to see the world around us for what it is, is important. We know that in this age, where media is rarely actually truthful, we need this ability to discern from the world around us even more than ever. However, if we do not have that ability, we cannot properly navigate the world around us.

In school, you are taught to use critical thinking skills—but you are also taught that you should rely on mainstream media in using those. You are taught that you should hear what is being said to you if you can trust the source. However, the sources that you were told to trust are untrustworthy inherently. This is where Q comes in.

Q wants you to wake up.

The entire Qanon movement is there to ensure that the people wake up to the atrocities occurring all around you. They are there to ensure that you can and will learn everything you ought to do to protect yourself and those around you. If you want to be able to do so, you must make sure that you are ready. You must look at the truth and remove the blinders. You must acknowledge the patterns in front of you because, at some point, they stop being coincidences and become very clear patterns that are undeniable. Q is trying to primarily wake up the general public because, once the public is aware of what is happening, the public can help create the society we deserve. Through understanding what the Deep State is doing, we can stop falling for their covert tactics.

Q works to disseminate the information that is needed to start seeing the truth. Q is there to help us begin to see the true situation around us. Q is there to begin unraveling the world's truths, to provide us with everything that we must see and understand so that we can better be prepared.

Prepare for the Storm

Through being aware of what is happening around us, through being able to discern the truth in the worst situations, we begin to understand what President Trump meant when he referenced the calm before the storm that one fateful day, surrounded by military members. President Trump informed us that we had to be ready for the storm—for the aftermath of it all and that we were in the calm.

The storm is still a great mystery. However, we do know one thing: when it arrives, we will be ready for them. We will be ready to fend off anything that they do or attempt. We will be ready to take back control and fight back. We will be ready to start fighting back.

The Storm is a phenomenon in which everything will be revealed. Everything will come to fruition, and when it does, Q has his plan in place. Think about it logically for a moment; however, we can't know what to do or expect at first. We cannot know what we need to do or how we need to do it. We cannot find ourselves struggling to find solid ground while everything around us is changing. But we do not have to because we know that the storm is coming and it is time to prepare. When we know what to expect, we know that we can start making very real changes. When we know what to expect, we can start to fight it back. This is precisely why Q wants us enlightened. This is exactly why he is pushing for the Great Awakening. When everyone can see the truth, everything will go far more smoothly than if we are lost or unaware of what is going on.

By telling us to pay attention now and by trickle-truthing us that information that we will need to keep in mind, you will discover that ultimately, there are strings and trails that you can follow. You will realize that there are ways for you to better see what is happening. When you know to pay attention, those coincidences that keep happening are no longer invisible or just that—coincidences. They become your ability to navigate throughout the world, to stand up and fight off whatever is happening around us. Being aware is one of the best things you can do for yourself, and Q is waiting for you to open your mind and embrace it.

As you get to following Q's posts more often, you realize that the storm is referenced constantly. Trump uses references to it constantly, as we have discussed when trying to validate President Trump as some sort of leader that is trying to help. He might not be everyone's favorite president, but there are ways to endure him and start to see and recognize what he is doing. There are ways that you can live through it, and that all begins with becoming aware—it begins with learning to identify what is happening around you.

Now, we have spoken heavily about all sorts of proofs. In fact, that may have been the longest chapter in this entire book—discussing the various things that have shown the corroboration between President Trump and whoever Q may be. We also see that President Trump may be the elusive and mysterious Q+. Is he? Quite possibly. The truth is out there if you start to follow the tracks and figure out where it will take you.

Pay attention to your surroundings. Watch the news, as well as other sources for unfettered, uncensored speech. There are very few beacons of true freedom of speech at this point in time. There are only a few different options for you to get that trustworthy news, and unfortunately for any, the sources for that news are those that we are mostly told to avoid. Yes, it can be strange to look at those unconventional sources. It may be strange to look at sources deemed untrustworthy or come from an anonymous forum, which is where the bulk of that free speech comes from, but remember what was said.

President Trump and Q have both attempted to clarify that they are using these different anonymous forums online. On December 19, 2019, Q wrote:

“Backchannels are important. Know your history and you will know why. Q”

He has also stated:

“The message must bypass MSM.”

President Trump has stated, when speaking about going around mainstream media, “We just have to go around them [Mainstream media], and we have gone around them like nobody in history has ever gone around them.”

Of course, amidst the censoring, some of the only free bastions of true freedom of speech include 4chan, 8chan, and 8kun.

The interesting point about this, however, is that President Trump has also stated, in talking about the censorship of the media:

“You know the good news is, at least we have a forum, we have a place we can talk, so everyone knows what is going on.” This is the community on 4chan. Something corroborated further when General Michael Flynn stated: “And we have an army, ‘kay, as a soldier and as a general, as a retired general, we have an army of digital soldiers. What we are now, what we call, what I call them, ‘cause this was an insurgency, folks, this was run like an insurgency. This was irregular warfare at its finest, in politics. And that, that story will continue to be told here, but we have what we call citizen journalists, ‘kay, because the journalists that we have in our media did a disservice, to themselves actually more than they did to this country. They did a disservice to themselves because they displayed an unprecedented arrogance. And so the American people decided to take over the idea of information. They took over the idea of information, and they did it through social media.”

He continues on in his speech, shifting his talk to patriotism. “He’s an American patriot. So when we talk about patriotism, how do we fight as patriots today?” He then discusses physical courage and being out on a battlefield. However, more interestingly, he states: “I completely believe he opposite now for our younger generation. And it’s the most, the more, the older you get in the military, we sort of begin to change that physical courage to what I call intellectual courage. And intellectual courage actually takes more bravery at times. It takes more bravery at times. Because to be intellectually courageous, and this is for you, this is really for this foundation, this is for the young people in this room, you are, you are demonstrating a level of intellectual courage that our country desperately needs.”

Coincidence? Remember, it is not coincidental to have this degree of similarity or planning. What General Flynn has done here in this speech is not only to mark that the media is biased and under the control of other people—he has also marked that there is an army of citizen journalists working with the people of the United States. Is this relating to Q? Most likely. The references to patriotism, citizen journalism, and freedom of speech seem to imply that we hear from someone who understands what Qanon is doing on 8kun and shows that there is more proof that the two are highly linked together. They ought not to be mistaken for each other—you need to see them working together in tandem.

We need to be prepared for the storm, and according to President Trump, General Flynn, and Q, that storm will be announced in ways that the people will get it—primarily through these backdoor methods of communication. We will find out about it all through the likes of 4chan and 8chan or 8kun through the people. Q will post, and the citizen journalists—the forum of people who are ready to help will begin to disseminate the information when the time is right.

The storm will come. It is not a matter of if—it is a matter of when. Now, we wait to see when it all arises. Now, we wait and see when it'll show up. It will come, and when we find that it has, we will know the truth. We will learn. We are the news now. We owe it to the people to continue to disseminate this information. It is time to clarify that we are not willing to put up with the Deep State. We are not willing to let the New World Order win. We will weather the storm, and we will come out on top.

Conclusion

At this point, you should see that there is plenty of evidence supporting Q's existence and legitimacy. Yes, the media wants you to think that he is not real or that he is nothing but a conspiracy by design. The media does not want you to know the truth. The media wants you to be kept in the dark because you are easier to control if you are. As someone who was, at one time, ignorant of the truth, you were easy to control. However, once you start seeing the patterns, they are undeniable. There is no way for every single incidence of something happening being a total natural coincidence. There is no way for this to happen, time and time again—the world is not that lucky. However, by making you think that way, you are easily managed. Your mind can be swayed. If you trust the media, you will be led astray. You will be controlled and used. This is precisely why The Great Awakening is so important. We need it: if we want to defend ourselves and our great nation, we must look at the world with eyes wide open. We must make sure that we see the truth—that we see the patterns and recognize what they mean.

The storm is coming. One way or another, the storm will be here whether we want it to or not because it has already been set into motion. Everything is lined up, and now it is just a matter of time before it all comes crashing down. It will happen, and those who need to be ousted from the government will be. The swamp will be drained, and before you know it, we will be living in our world in which we are in control and safe. It is important to acknowledge that there is a change coming. The change will be massive. We are in the middle of a revolution, and now it is a matter of making sure that the United States wins—the patriots must come out on top, and we will, so long as we all come together.

Now, Q's posts are dense. There are several years of him working through posting—and it is important to note that Q has been very active, with thousands of drops, posts, and references being made. It is difficult to cover everything in one book, and so far, you have seen just the beginning. It is time now for you to figure out which side of history you want to be on. Do you want to be on the side of the patriotic winners, who managed to destroy this massive take over the world movement? Do you want to be one of the awakened ones or the enlightened ones? You do not have to find yourself stuck. You do not have to find yourself trapped underneath the world at large. You simply have to make sure that you are working with yourself. You need to make sure that you are taking the time and the effort to ensure that you know what is going on. Knowledge is power, and Q is trying to leave it all out there for you to find. You can follow the breadcrumbs, and you will make your way back to where you need to be. You need to achieve that enlightenment somehow. You need to discover the truth somehow, and that is done through sheer willpower. You can see the truth if you open your eyes, and hopefully, as you have read through this book, you have started to see that.

Now, what you do at this point is up to you. Do you want to keep listening to the media? Trust that they will always spin things that work best for them and the narrative they wish to push. They will always try to hide who and what they are because they know that they must. They will always make it impossible for you to see the truth. They will always take the time to figure out how best they can convey that they were right. If you want to ensure that you can better understand the truth, the future, and how the government is being attacked from the inside out, you must look carefully.

You must be able to admit that there is no way that, at this point, all of the posts that Q has made are coincidental. Sure, he could be someone that is simply posting online and hoping something sticks now and then, but the number of things that have stuck is uncanny. It is impossible that he is doing so through sheer chance. If you want to make sure that you can see and understand this, you must be willing to say so. You must be willing to acknowledge that there is no way that as many posts could be coincidental. At this point, there is more to it—you just have to be willing to accept it. Open your mind. Open your eyes. See the truth that is emanating all around you. It is there, massively influential and right in your face to show you everything, so long as you are willing to believe it.

We are waging war against false information, and unfortunately, the people have been trained to listen to it. However, every single day, there are new ears that are listening. Every day, new people pay attention, acknowledge the truth, and choose to act upon it. Every single day, there are new eyes on Q and Q's posts. At some point, enough will be enough. At some point, we will have an army of people ready to support our great nation through our understanding of the media. If you want to acknowledge this truth, you can do so—if you want to make sure that you know that you are on track and ask for what you want or need, you can do that too. All you have to do is be willing to see.

Now, from here on out, you have a very important job. Keep your eyes open. Keep your mind open and listen closely. Watch for those posts online that start showing Q's movements and information. If you do not want to read through the information on 8kun itself, you can find other sites that will help you to track them. They are going to be difficult to find—much of the Q-related information is starting to be buried. It is starting to be eliminated and censored. Our ability to speak freely is being eliminated. Now, if you want to make sure that you have that control and acknowledge the truth, you must see this. Follow the patterns. Follow the white rabbit. Watch as things start to line themselves up on their own and how you realize that it was there in front of you all along—but you had been too blind to see it before. No longer are you blind to the truth: it is there for you. And it is time for you to act upon it.

It is time to remember that we can win. Where we go one, we go all. We will drain that swamp of the Deep State. We will manage to break free one way or another. We have to make sure that we work harder and make it happen once and for all. Are you ready to take on the battle of your lifetime? Are you ready to pick up and fight back? Are you ready to become a part of a massive revolution? We are making history as we speak. We are showing the world that we are not a force to be reckoned with. We will weather the storm, and we will survive.

Now, it is time for you to make your choice. Which side of history do you want to be on when all is said and done? Which side of history do you want to say that you fought for? Which side of history do you want to see acknowledging that they were right about the corruption all along? It will happen. Q has promised that it will happen, and little by little, some of these Deep State individuals have been identified, pulled and investigated. They no longer have the control that they thought they would, and they are fighting back tooth and nail, like a trapped animal that doesn't know what to do next. We will win.

Thank you for taking the time to read through this book and remember, at some point, it is not mathematically possible for these to be coincidences. At some point, you have to question them. Get out there. Keep your eyes open.
